THE
ENGLISH NATION IDENTIFIED WITH THE

LOST HOUSE OF ISRAEL

by

Twenty-seven Identifications.

DEDICATED TO THE (SO-CALLED) BRITISH PEOPLE,
BY THEIR KINSMAN,
EDWARD HINE.

COUNTRY PUBLISHERS.
MANCHESTER: J. HEYWOOD. BIRMINGHAM: RICHARD DAVIES, TEMPLE ROW.
EDINBURGH: J. MENZIES & CO. GLASGOW: JAMES MCGEACHY.
BRIGHTON: H. & C. TREACHER. BRISTOL: Wm. MACK.
BATH: B. PEARSON, MILSON STREET.
BRADFORD: J. F. HAMMOND.

MDCCCLXXI.

The immense popularity of this pamphlet in England has led to the publication of an Australian edition.
MASON, FIRTH, AND M'CUTCHEON,
GENERAL PRINTERS,
FLINDERS LANE WEST, MELBOURNE.
My Kinsfolk,

It is not my province to write a book. I am without ambition that way; my great desire is to serve my country, giving forth such flashes of light to the people, as shall convince them that they are the Heirs to the greatest temporal, political, and social blessings, our God has ever vouchsafed to any one particular and distinct Nation, blessings that are now coming to us of a value far beyond what we have ever yet received, notwithstanding that throughout our history we have always occupied the most exalted position on the earth, but the blessings now about to dawn upon us, will be unmistakably greater, giving us nationally a standing far superior to any former period. The very first that we shall inherit, is that of living in peace, entirely freed from the turmoils and convulsions of Warfare, that have already commenced to engulf the continent of Europe; with these Wars England will have nothing to do, we cannot be embroiled in them, they will last through some years, and while the other nations will be in the midst of sufferings, famines, and dire perplexities, we shall be enabled throughout this time to live peaceably and without anxiety. God has said it, and His word is sure, we inherit these blessings by being Heirships to Israel, we are the very descendants of this lost people, in whom so many valuable promises are vested. It has been the will of our God that we should be politically lost, until the latter days, we were not to be discovered until the times of the "wars and the rumours of wars" had arrived. These times are now, this is the exact time specified by God for the political resurrection of Israel, effected in ourselves, they were to be "blinded" until the fulness of the Gentiles had come in, this has been fulfilled, which is proved by the fact that the Coolies of China are emigrating by thousands, because their country is overcrowded, and that the Chinese themselves confess that they cannot afford to allot ground for the cultivation of cotton, though it would largely swell their revenues, and give employment to millions of unemployed. The same may be said of Germany and Prussia, whose people have swarmed our possessions, because they had not land of their own. Belgium and other countries testify to the same fact. That this time has come, is further proved by the restoration of the Latter Rain to Palestine, a rain withheld for centuries, its Withdrawal, and the Captivity, being events that Solomon in his prayer connected together, and they return together, the rain is restored, and now Israel is found—found in ourselves, the time is now at hand, when God has promised to bless us moro largely than ever, we have not to wait for the Coming of the Lord, before He settles us after our "old estates"
he will do this before our swords are beaten into ploughshares.
The positive promise that He "will do better unto us than at our beginnings," Ezek. xxxvi. 11, is almost immediate, we shall begin to realise this directly after we have effected our Identity Nationally, and it is of the utmost importance that this should be effected at once, as in these critical times of Warfare, it might save us from many grave mistakes. God will not effect it for us, without inquiry from us, Ezek. xxxvi. 37, therefore let the Church plead for it, it is our duty, it is vital to us, for when established it is our Peace. The disciples were Israelites, of the tribe of Benjamin, that one tribe that was purposely left behind to be a light in Jerusalem in the days of Christ. 1 Kings xi. 13—36.

Christ privately instructed these Israelites about the very times we are now in. Matt. xxvi. 3. They wanted to know about the latter days, and were told that they would not be until "Ye hear of wars, and rumours of wars, nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom, and there shall be famines, and pestilences, and earthquakes." This was to be the lot of the Gentile nations, but not of Israel, we have no part in them, and this is Christ's special instruction to our nation, when we hear of these wars. "See that ye be not troubled." Matt. xxiv. 6. Mark says the same, "Be ye not troubled," Mark xiii. 7. Luke says
"Be not terrified," Luke xxi. 9, therefore let England build upon God's sure word, which has never yet failed. These are instructions alone given to our nation, it is impossible for the so-called English to be mixed up with these quarrels, having other matters to attend to, our Mission is to give testimony to the truth of the Bible, God will call us to the front to be His witnesses, Is. xliii.
12, the nations in their troubles, will find out that they have followed after vanities, and will flow to us to be taught of the Lord, Jer. xvi. 19. Grand and blessed times await our Identity.
We have to claim the land. The earth will be more productive to supply our wants than before. The Lord will do better for us than at our beginnings. Then will be to us essentially times of peace, of gladness and rejoicing. "When God bringeth back the captivity of His people, Jacob shall rejoice, Israel shall be glad." Ps. liii. 6. It is the climax of our national history; the ushering in of joyous times; but let me not be understood as saying a time of disarmament, for it is not. We cannot be indifferent to our Army and Navy matters, for a time of Warfare is coming to us, even to us—but not yet; Armageddon looms in the distance.
This is the time when almost the entire world will be gathered to battle against us, and for which we have to be prepared. Our Volunteers have been raised up for this Time, and will be called to actual service, but the fate of this battle is decided more by our Colonies, than by ourselves, in our favour, hence our duty, and interest to look after their growth. There are endless uses in our subject, but as our object here is only to establish the Identity we purpose devoting another pamphlet in showing the uses.

It is right to say the subject is partially old, Mr. Wilson, in "Our Israelitish Origin," and the Rev. F. R. A. Glover, M.A., in "England the Remnant of Judah," have both, in part, treated upon it, their works being well worth perusal, though we fail entirely to agree with either of them, inasmuch as they seek to Identify England with the tribe of Ephraim only, Mr. Glover speaking "of all the other members of the Israelitish tribes wherever they are," as though in doubt where to find them, and Mr. Wilson concluding they compose some of the modern nations of Europe, this view has led to confusion, has hindered the full development of the subject, and is the reason why the matter is so little known. Scripture does not warrant us to suppose that the tribes were separated, the ten tribes are together, they may have different characteristics, but the whole form one compound body, thus we have drunkards and ritualists from Ephraim, but we also have farmers and cattle breeders from Reuben, as well as mariners from Dan, lawyers and writers from Zebulon, soldiers and artillerymen from Asher, and are indebted to Benjamin, and not to Rome, for the tidings of the Gospel. We are altogether, an entire body, addressed by the Scriptures as a whole. It is not Ephraim, but "Israel shall bud and blossom and fill the face of the world with fruit." It is "what one nation in the earth is like thy people Israel," not like thy people Ephraim, it is "blindness in part hath happened unto Israel," not unto Ephraim, and so on, indeed had we been kept separate, God's purposes in keeping us a lost nation would have been frustrated, as it would have led to Identity before the time.

EDWARD HINE.
The Author is prepared to Lecture upon

"THE IDENTITY,"

The Importance of Emigration,

AND

THE GENERAL USES OF THE SUBJECT.

Communications addressed to him, 73 Little Britain, London, E.C., will be attended to.
IDENTIFICATIONS
Two great questions have for many generations puzzled and set at defiance the intelligence of the great and learned of our land. The first, What has become of the Lost Tribes of Israel? The second, Who were the ancestors of the English people?

The object of these pages is to show that the latter are identical with the former, and out of very many others that could be produced, to advance twenty-seven identifications that shall clearly establish the proposition. A few introductory remarks are needed. We take for granted that the reader is well informed as to the past Israelitish history—that they were once One People, and afterwards became Two Houses: the House of Israel, and the House of Judah. Since their captivities this distinction of the two houses becomes the grand essential to be borne in mind. To confound Judah with Israel and Israel with Judah, is the root of all mistakes in reference to this subject; these two peoples are as distinct as France from Russia, as fire from water, so that to speak of Israel as meaning the Jews, is to fall into an error which destroys the sense and meaning of much of the prophetic word;
yet this mistake is almost universally made, the result being that in the pulpits of our divines the prophetic word is seldom touched upon; the great command to "take heed" to the sure word of prophecy is disobeyed, or, if brought forward at all, it is generally so wrested, by its literal meaning being disregarded and a spiritual one substituted, that from a dozen different pulpits a dozen different interpretations are given; and under this teaching the word can no longer be said to be the "Sure word" (2 Peter i. 19), or be taken as the "light that shineth in a dark place." It is quite contrary to the spirit of prophecy, when a plain literal interpretation can be accepted, to substitute a figurative or spiritual one. "No prophecy of the Scripture is of any private interpretation," and the greater number admit of a literal sense. Thus, with the Jews, or the House of Judah, it is most interesting to mark how literally the prophecies have been, and are still being carried out. Thus—"I will cause thee to serve thine enemies in the land which thou knowest not." Jer. xvii. 4. "And I will deliver them to be removed into all the kingdoms of the earth for their hurt, to be a reproach and a proverb, a taunt and a curse, in all places whither I shall drive them." Jer. xxiv. 9, Jer. xxix. 18. "I will fan them with a fan in the gates of the land; I will bereave them of children." "Thy substance and thy treasures will I give to the spoil without price." Jer. xv. "Thou shalt not prosper in thy ways; and thou shalt be only oppressed and spoiled evermore, and no man shall save thee;" "and thy life shall hang in doubt before thee, and thou shalt fear day and night, and shalt have none assurance of thy life." Deut. xxviii. 29, 66.

These and many other dreadful curses have been literally fulfilled, and to this day in our own country the Jew is a taunt, a hissing, and a by word. Then surely if they have been so minutely fulfilled with the one House, so surely shall a literal fulfilment take place of the prophecies concerning the House of Israel. Very many of these have been fulfilled most wonderfully, yea, marvellously; indeed so many, that but few are left yet to be accomplished, and these few must shortly come to pass. The most remarkable feature of the prophecies concerning Israel, is their exactly opposite character as contrasted with those concerning Judah. Thus, instead of being a marked people, known by all nations, Israel was to become a lost people, known by none, not even to themselves. Hosea i. 9; ii. 17. Instead of being a small people, bereft of children, Israel was to have the multitudinous seed as the “stars of heaven.” Instead of being a dispersed people, and no nation, Israel was to become a fulness of nations, kings coming out of her. Instead of being a trembling people, smitten before her enemies, Israel was to be the most warlike nation, possessing the seat of power, “the gate of her enemies.” Instead of being a standing witness to the prophetic word, Israel was to become the overwhelming witness to the truth in the Latter Times. Instead of being under the Mosaic Law, Israel was divorced from the Law, and is to be found in Christ. Judah is represented as Deaf, but Israel as Blind. It was treacherous Judah. Backsliding Israel. From Judah one seed. Of Israel seeds, and so forth. Israel was never Judah, but Judah was of Israel, and will, eventually, be one with Israel. Sometimes Judah is referred to in Scripture as of Israel, when the distinction is still kept up, for then Israel as the Ten Tribes is distinguished as “All Israel,” “the whole House of Israel,” the “House of Israel wholly,” &c. These distinctions are more generally to be found in the Book of Ezekiel.

A review of the leading prophecies concerning Israel, will enable us most clearly to identify the English people as the Lost House of Israel.

IDENTIFICATION THE FIRST.—THE CAPTIVITY.

It was not until 725 B.C. that Israel or the ten Tribes was carried captive by Assyria, “and the King of Assyria did carry away Israel unto Assyria, and put them in Halah and in Habor by the river of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes; because they obeyed not the voice of the Lord their God, but transgressed his covenant.” 2 Kings xviii. 11, 12. It was in these parts that Israel was lost, which includes the southern border of the Caspian Sea, and as far west as Araxes, beyond the Euphrates. Here her name was to be taken from her, “they shall no more be remembered by their name." Hos. ii. 17. Hitherto they had been known by the name of God's people, "My people." "Then said God, call his name Lo-Ammi," Hos. i. 9, meaning "not my people." They were only to be lost in name, they were to be "blinded," become ignorant of their ancestry, and as this "blind" people, were yet to accomplish the marvellous works allotted to them as the "pre-ordained," "chosen," and "special" seed. "Yet doth he devise means that his banished be not expelled from him." 2 Sam. xiv. 14. "And I will bring the blind by a way they knew not; I will lead them in paths they have not known," Is. xlii. 16; thus Israel, though in captivity, inasmuch as they were "cast out" of their land, yet would not remain under the dominion of the Assyrians, for God twelve years after the event says through Nahum, "though I have afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more. For now will I break this yoke (the Assyrian) from off thee and will burst thy bonds in sunder. Nahum i. 12, 13. This the prophetic word plainly recognises as having been done, for afterwards Israel is addressed as being in the North, and then North West of the seat of Prophecy: "Behold these shall come from far, and lo, these from the north, and from the west." Is. xlix. 12. "To the islands will he pay recompense, so shall they fear the name of the Lord from the west." Is. lx. 19. "Go and proclaim these words towards the north, and say, return thou backsliding Israel." Jer. iii. 12. That Israel did not go to the East is positive, because God in prophecy declared they should have "the Assyrians before, and the Philistines behind." Is. ix. 12. Had they gone eastward this would have been reversed; therefore, this assures us they went first to the north, then to the west, which is further proved by the direction Paul went when he journeyed after them, and Christ himself never went to the south of Jerusalem, where the Jews were chiefly to be found, but always to the north, through Samaria. Had his mission been to the Jews, he would have gone southwards, but he did not.

Thus it be evident that from this point they would become wanderers, without any fixed design of their own; whether their tribeships would be kept as distinct as they were when in the Land, I am not prepared to affirm, though I think the probability is that they would endeavour so to preserve them, at least for a time.

Since the publication of the former Editions of this work, I have been amazed to find the amount of ignorance that exists upon the Captivity of Israel, having been told, even by Ministers who presumably should know better, that Israel did return, they confounding Israel with Judah, and the 70 years, that I must be allowed the indulgence now and then of showing the difference of the two Houses; Israel never returned, they went into captivity 725 B.C.; Judah went into captivity 588 B.C.; but Israel at this time was in captivity, and had been so for 134 years. Israel's captivity was in Assyria; Judah's in Babylon. Israel's was complete, "there was none left but the tribe of Judah only." 2 Kings, xvii. 18. Judah being then a distinct nation. Judah's was partial, the poor being left behind. Jer. xl. 7. Israel never returned, their captivity "is unto this day." 2 Kings xvii. 23. Judah did return after the 70 years. Neh. vii. 6.

THE IDENTITY. In just such a state as that of these people now, were our ancestors found. The Anglo-Saxons were wandering tribes among the Germans, with so much of the warrior spirit, that the Ancient Britons invited them into these isles to help them in their national difficulties. To trace the origin of our forefathers has been the perplexing problem for ages. Who were the ancestors of these Anglo-Saxons? To this day nationally we are in positive ignorance as to our true ancestry, a mystery which these pages are intended to remove. From the very parts through which the tribes of Israel wandered, we came. So interesting has been the tracing of our ancestry to our historians, that to some it was a life study. Sharon Turner is foremost in the search, and he traces us to the very spot where Israel was carried captive, the one where the name of Israel was taken from them. Arriving here, he loses all further trace of them. Here was the connecting link, but had he seen and lain hold of it, the purposes of God would have been frustrated, for the "time of the end" was not then come, for which reason was it hid from him. The fact, however, is most important, and forms the ground-work of our argument. Our own historian, Sharon Turner, in treating of the second or Teutonic stock of European population in his "Anglo-Saxons," (vol. i., 93-102) says, "It is peculiarly interesting to us, because from its branches not only our own immediate ancestors, but also those of the most celebrated nations of modern Europe, have unquestionably descended. The Anglo-Saxons, Lowland Scotch, Normans, Danes, Belgians, Lombards, and Franks have all sprung from that great fountain of the human race, which we have distinguished by the terms Scythian, German, or Gothic." "The first appearance of the Scythian tribes in Europe may be placed, according to Strabo and Homer, about the eighth,* or, according to Herodotus, in the seventh century before the Christian era." "The first scenes of their civil existence, and of their progressive power, was in Asia, to the east of the Araxes." Here they multiplied and extended their territorial limits for some centuries, unknown to Europe." The account of Diodorus is, "That the

* The date of the Assyrian Captivity.
† The identical part into which Israel had been carried captive.
Scythians, formerly inconsiderable and few, possessed a narrow region on the Araxes; but, by degrees, they became more powerful in numbers and in courage. They extended their boundaries on all sides; till, at last, they raised their nation to great empire and glory. In the course of time they subdued many nations between the Caspian and Meotis, and beyond the Tanais. "In the time of Herodotus they had gained an important footing in Europe, and to have taken a westerly direction." Having reference expressly to the Saxons, Sharon Turner observes, "They were a German or Teutonic, i.e., a Gothic or Scythian tribe, and of the various Scythian nations which have been recorded, the Sakai, or Saceae, are the people from whom the descent of the Saxons may be inferred, with the least violation of probability. They defeated Cyrus, and reached the Cappadoce on the Euxine. That some of the divisions of this people were really called Sakasuna is obvious from Pliny; for he says that the Sakai who settled in Armenia, were named Sacassani, which is but Saka-Suna, spelt by a person who was unacquainted with the meaning of the combined words. It is also important to remark, that Ptolemy mentions a Scythian people sprung from the Sakai, by the name of Saxones."

These extracts are invaluable to our purpose, as they call to our aid Strabo, Homer, Herodotus, Diodorus, Pliny, and Ptolemy to prove that our so-called Saxon ancestors came from the parts where Israel was lost, making their first appearance in those parts at the exact time that Israel was lost—two most important facts, by which we are enabled to gather another most important fact, viz., that in the days of Christ our forefathers were then occupying the north-west of Asia, and gradually making their way into Europe; that in the very days of the Apostles our race were located in Cappadocia, Galatia, Pamphylia, Lydia, Bithynia, Mysia, Achaia, Thessaly, Macedonia, and Illyricum. We are traced in this direction seven hundred years before Christ, and we did not reach these isles until 430 years after Christ; so that between these periods and at the time of Christ we were in the regions specified. This is important to see, because one of Christ's most pronounced declarations was, that He was "not sent but unto the lost sheep of the House of Israel." Matt. xv. 24. He instructed his disciples, saying, "Go not into the way of the Gentiles, and into any city of the Samaritans enter ye not, but go rather to the lost sheep of the House of Israel." Matt. x. 5. And, in obedience to this command, we find the apostles making their journeys to the precise localities where our English forefathers then were, preaching the word and forming churches.

This is an indisputable interesting historical coincidence, which fully justifies the inference of an Identity.
After Israel's captivity, after they had freed themselves from the Assyrian yoke, and after their wandering in a blind state in the north-west of Europe, the same word of Prophecy which cannot fail, plainly intimates that their course would be directed to "the Isles," "the isles afar off."

"Keep silence before me, O Islands." Is. xli. 4. "The Isles shall wait for His law." Is. xlii. 4. "Sing unto the Lord a new song—the Isles and the inhabitants thereof." Is. xliii. 12. "Listen, O Isles, unto me." Is. xlix. 1. "Hear the word of the Lord, O ye nations, and declare it in the Isles afar off, and say, He that scattered Israel will gather him, and keep him." Jer. xxxi. 10. These all refer to Israel; and there are many more that testify that Israel would locate themselves in the Islands north-west from Palestine, the seat of prophecy, and when they reached these Islands would have to accomplish great and arduous missions only given to them, and of a nature so grandly gigantic and expensive, as would become utterly impossible for any other nation on earth to accomplish, and the positive and literal accomplishment of which become the fruit by which they shall be known.

It must be borne in mind that all the Israelites were not literally carried into captivity by Assyria, for a remnant of them escaped. (Obadiah xiv.) The captives were carried to the north, the remnant that escaped went southwards, by the Mediterranean Sea, consequently there was a great distance between the two bodies, and one would not know the movements of the other. Yet God's design was to bring them together, those in the south would, by a different route, be sent to the "Isles afar off," for in Is. lxvi. 19, it is said, "I will send those that escape of them unto the nations," "to the isles afar off."

THE IDENTITY. Presuming that the tribeships would have been kept distinct, that they would have conducted their wanderings in separate bands, and so at different periods have entered these British Isles, which are certainly afar off from the seat of prophecy, and in a north-westerly direction; this would exactly tally with the mode that our forefathers actually made their appearance here, and would furnish us with the reason why they made ten distinct migrations at various times, and at different points into this country. If Israel did this, of course being blinded, they would only be known as Gentiles, and those that escaped would not enter Britain by way of Germany or Denmark as most of our forefathers did, but through France as the direct way from the Mediterranean, and would thus account for our Gauls and Normans. This much is certain, that if Israel had been kept in tribeship up to the point of their reaching the isles, afterwards this distinctiveness would not have been preserved, but would merge into one great nation being always addressed as one united people, just as our ancestors ultimately became. Of course this theory revolutionises our popular acception of English History, that of being a mixture of ten different people from whom have come the mightiest Nation on the face of the earth, which is most vague, and by no means plausible; nay more, such a theory after a careful consideration is most unsatisfactory, as it conveys a cruel reflection on the word of the Almighty, which is tantamount to a direct insult to our God, inasmuch as we, the so-called English, have accomplished without one exception (thus far), every mission God so faithfully promised should come forth from Israel, whereas no other nation has touched them, and it is now an utter impossibility for any other people to do so. Therefore our old theory would make it appear that God had substituted another Nation in the place of Israel to bring forth these Marvellous Works, which are the glory of the Almighty God, whereas He has distinctly promised that He would not take His Glory away from Israel, and give it to another people. God says, "For mine own sake, even for mine own sake, will I do it. For how should my name be polluted? And I will not give my glory unto another." Is. xlviii. 11. No! "God is not a man that He should lie, neither the son of man that He should repent; hath He said, and shall He not do it? or hath He spoken, and shall He not make it good?" Num. xiii. 19. "I am the Lord: that is my name: and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praise to graven images," Is. xlii. 8. This promise is not given to Judah, but only to Israel, and was sent after them when they were living in the Isles.

IDENTIFICATION THE THIRD.—RENEWING STRENGTH.

Israel, after their wanderings through the north-west, and their settlement in the isles afar off, were to "renew their strength." Though a warlike people from the first, still their wanderings, with the conflicts that would result as they passed through the lands of strangers, would greatly enfeeble and impoverish them, this was the case before they crossed the Jordan to possess the land, when they had the special and visible token of God's help, how much more so now, when apparently they were left entirely to themselves, every new passage through fresh country would be by might, not by right, every branch of ground gained would be by one of the laws: work, not of a day, but of generations, and would be the cause of wealth, maintenance and gaiety.

But when the Jews are reached prophecy comes forth with her edict; and says,—“Keep silence before me, 0 Jacob, and let the people renew their strength.” In xii. 2, giving us a reason in the 8th verse, “Thus Israel art my servant, Jacob, whom I have chosen, the seed of Abraham, my friend.” And saying in the 11th verse, “Surely to thy seed shall come forth a Saviour, that is, God: I will strengthen thee.”

THE IDENTITY here with the English nation is so plain that it is needless to enlarge further than to bring out the fact, that we did exactly what Israel was to have done, that is, removed our strength. The Saxons had held for years in the north-west parts of Europe before their coming into Britain, as likewise the Gauls in France, for one of the reasons why Julius Caesar invaded England was, that the Britons had resisted the Gauls in their battles against his armies, and the last Roman legion retired from England 475 years after Caesar had landed, most of this time was one of warlike and of depopulation, but mark how wondrously have we increased since then.

IDENTIFICATION THE FOURTH—STARS OF HEAVEN.

There were three great heavenly promises made to Abraham, but that of the multitudes seed is the only one we notice here.
That this was to be literally a national seed as distinguished from other nations is most clear from the careful way in which God Himself preserves its descent. Abraham was promising that he had no son, and says, “Lo, one born in my house shall be mine heir, and the word of the Lord came unto him, saying: This shall not be thine heir, but he that shall come forth out of these own loins shall be shinethis heir. And He brought him forth abroad, and said, Levi, go toward Heaven and tell the men, if that he be able to number them.
And He said unto him, 0 shall thy seed be.” Gen. xv. 3-6.

Great care was taken to confirm this promise to Isaac—Gen. xxvi.
4, as also to Jacob—Gen. xxviii. 14. Jacob, who was afterwards called Israel, had twelve sons, representing the twelve tribes and that there should be no doubt to whom out of the twelve should inherit this promise of the multiplicity, we find that Joseph, whose name means Increase, was to be a “trustful rough,” saying, “The blessings of thy father have prevailed above the blessings of my progenitors unto the utmost bound of the overlooking hills. They shall be upon the head of Joseph.” Gen.

xlix. 26. We then find the promise descending most minutely unto Ephraim, saying, "And his seed shall become a multitude of nations." Gen. xlvi. 19. Thus it is most plain, that after the separation of the twelve tribes into two houses, the inheritance of the promised multitudinous seed was with Israel, now the lost house, and not with Judah. For at the very time of their captivity, at the time when God was withholding His name from them, that they should become a lost people upon the earth, at that exact time God ratifies His ancient promise, saying, "Yet the number of the children of Israel shall be as the sand of the sea, which cannot be measured nor numbered." Hos. i. 10. "Unto Judah was given the sceptre," Gen. xlix. 10, from whom the lion of the tribe of Judah should come," the one seed Christ so very beautifully distinguished from the "seeds as of many" by Paul. Gal. iii. 16. Now to Abraham and his seed were the promises made. "He saith not, and to seeds, as of many; but as of one, and to thy seed, which is Christ." Indeed, the multiplicity could not be with Judah, otherwise the promises would go for naught, and prophecy have failed (which is impossible), for the Jews, inheriting their curse, do not increase to draw forth remark, not now being nine millions strong in all the countries of their dispersion, numerically insignificant in comparison with other nations, therefore this fulness of nations must now be on the earth, they cannot be hid in a corner, they must have intercourse with other nations, and be identical with some powerful nation, whose origin is obscure, making THE IDENTITY so plain with our own immense nation, that it is needless to enlarge, and will become more plain in the other Identifications.

IDENTIFICATION THE FIFTH.—A MONARCHY.

In connection with the promise of the multiplicity, is one having reference to Government, for in the first edition of the promise given to Abraham, it is said, "Kings shall come out of thee." Gen. xvii. 6. And again, showing the importance of this promise, we have in Gen. xxxv. 11, "And Kings shall come out of thy loins." This promise was also given to his wife, the Lord saying, "Sarah shall her name be, and I will bless her, and she shall be a Mother of Nations; Kings of People shall be of her," Gen. xvii. 16, and let it not be said that this was fulfilled when Israel was in the land. It was not. None of the promises were fully realised when Israel was there, she not having full possession of the land according to the promise. It was in her captivity that the Monarchy and Nations would be fully accomplished. So that in searching for lost Israel, this should be an important consideration, for wherever they are, they must be under a monarchy, therefore could not be the Jews, who have no king, or government of any kind of their own, nor could they be a small people, such as the Nestorians, not being a recognised power—nor still more an uncivilised tribe such as the North American Indians. Prophecy makes it also very plain that after their captivity, after their wanderings and their settlement in the isles—after they had lost their children through fatigue and warfare, and while yet feeling themselves captives, moving to and fro, and even after the renewing of their strength with "the children which thou shalt have, after thou hast lost the other," that then in this primeval state "Kings shall be thy nursing fathers, and their queens thy nursing mothers." Is. xlix. 23. So that soon after their settlement in the isles, after they had become a people lost as to name, they would be under a strong government in the form of a Monarchy, one able to protect them, and make them a people to be feared by other Powers.

THE IDENTITY. This is just the state of things appearing in our early history. Directly after our strength was sufficiently renewed, and we were able to throw off the Roman yoke. Egbert, the so-called Saxon, was chosen as king, and from him has descended the most powerful Monarchy the world has ever known, with its power supreme in action to the present day.

IDENTIFICATION THE SIXTH. THE STRAIT.

So inconvenient was the possession of the multitudinous promise to be to Israel after her settlement in the isles, because of the vastness of the increase of her population, that there would be no room for her full developments. The isles were to become too small for her rapid growth. Thus we have prophecy telling us in Is. xlix. 19, concerning Israel, that "the land shall even now be too narrow by reason of the inhabitants," and in verse 20 they cry, "The place is too strait for me, give place to me, that I may dwell."

THE IDENTITY. Our forefathers soon found themselves in the same circumstances as these Israelites were to be, and had not other countries been opened up to us, it would have been difficult to say what would have become of us. One of our very greatest national blessings was the discovery of America, and though the fulness of a nation has already come forth from us there, still, in our present day, we have reason to cry in Britain, "The place is too strait for us;" and the fact should quicken our national activities in schemes for a large emigration, on a scale that shall be sensibly felt in our over-crowded cities.

IDENTIFICATION THE SEVENTH.—COLONIES.

One great and grand mission that was given only to Israel to accomplish was the filling up or peopling of the waste places of the earth. She is likened unto "a fruitful bough by a well; whose branches run over the wall." Gen. xl ix. 22. In Is. xlix., where Israel is specially addressed as in the "Isles," we have that beautiful "Thus saith the Lord, In an acceptable time have I heard thee, and in a day of salvation have I helped thee; and I will preserve thee, and give thee for a covenant of the people, to establish the earth, to cause to inherit the DESOLATE HERITAGES;" verse 8. And then as they go forth from the isles to these waste lands God promises to show them the way, to "lead them," to "guide them," removing all difficulties from their way, saying, "I will make all my mountains a way, and my highway shall be exalted." Thus God most plainly intimates that He had provided Colonies for the convenience of the multitudinous seed to come forth from Israel. He foresaw the horrors always resulting from an over-crowded Country. He heard their prayer for more room, and tells them He had opened up New Countries for their use, implying that some would lie in Torrid Zones, for He says "neither shall the heat nor sun smite them." The same idea is again expressed in Is. liv., where Israel is represented under the figure of the divorced woman and Judah, the married wife,
"for more are the children of the desolate, than the children of the married wife, saith the Lord." Then she is told to make use of the provision made for emigration. " Enlarge the place of thy tent, lengthen thy cords and strengthen thy stakes, for thou shall break forth on the right hand, and on the left, and thy seeds shall inherit the Gentiles and make the desolate cities to be inhabited."
It was in this way that Israel would be sown in the earth, as the Lord says, "And I will sow her unto me in the earth." Hos. ii.
23. "They of Ephraim shall be like a mighty man, they shall increase as they have increased, and I will sow them among the people, and they shall remember me in far countries." Zech. x.
8, 9. Then surely Israel must be found in no unimportant position on the earth. It is utterly an impossible thing that she be a small people, as the Jews really are. She must be a nation, with colonies of extraordinary growth, and these in all parts of the world; for she was to spread abroad, "to the west, and to the east, to the north, and to the south." Gen. xxviii. 14. And at the time of the restitution, from these quarters will she be gathered, and that this shall be accomplished we have the emphatic warrant of Scripture, which now is saying to literal Israel, "And behold I am with thee, and will keep thee in all the places whither thou goest, and will bring thee AGAIN into this land; for I will not leave thee, until I have done that which I have spoken to thee of." Gen. xxviii. 15.

THE IDENTITY. It may truly be said that no other nation but the English have done anything towards a real filling up of the waste places of the earth, and it is also a most remarkable and indisputable fact that at the time the above prophecies were given, the only "desolate heritages" then in existence that could claim the prefix of the definite article, were America, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa. St. Paul testifies that Italy and Spain, and indeed the Continent of Europe, were in possession, and History affirms the same with Asia; so that it becomes patent that the "desolate heritages" or Colonies that God has declared He had provided only for Israel, have all of them, one by one, come under the dominion of our rule. Therefore, if Israel was to do this, and the English is the only nation that has done it, the identity is self-evident, and unless we see this fact, and connect with it the great reason why they were provided for us, because of the multiplicity of our race, it is impossible for us to understand the precise relationship or uses of our Colonies to these British Isles, or for us to entertain any adequate idea of the immense advantages embodied in Emigration. I maintain that this is the only correct light in which to see the great questions of Colonial management and Emigration, and unless laid hold of, our Colonial Office will be constantly repeating the mistakes they have made, and our Colonial Minister still enjoy his apparent luxury of being continually in hot water and perplexity.

IDENTIFICATION THE EIGHTH.—THE UNICORN'S HORN.

One great characteristic that must be discovered in Israel will be her pushing propensity. The idea given is, that whenever she acquires new country for her own use, that the original possessors, or the aborigines of that country, will be pushed as by the "horns of Unicorns," that with them "he shall push the people together to the ends of the earth, and they are the ten thousands of Ephraim." Deut. xxxiii. 17. The same idea is given by the Psalmist in writing about Israel, xliv. 4 and 5, "Thou art my King, O God, command deliverance for Jacob. Through Thee will we push down our enemies."

THE IDENTITY. We need only give a few instances to show that this characteristic is most remarkably possessed by the English people. In our own country we have the Welsh descended from the ancient Britons, pushed into a corner of the country once their own, and subject to our rule. The same may be said when our sons went forth to America, there we have the Indians pushed into the back-woods of that country, the same thing will be found in Canada and Australia, with the Maories of New Zealand, and the Caffres of the Cape.

IDENTIFICATION THE NINTH.—ISRAEL A CHRISTIAN PEOPLE.

Wherever Israel shall be recognised, she must be found pre-eminently a Christian people. When God caused her to be lost, it was done by simply taking away her name, by which act a blindness happened to her, that she became ignorant of the stock from which she had sprung; but though not called by His name, and ignorant herself of her own ancestry, God never intended to forsake her, but still to accomplish by her the purposes He had designed—thus, at the very time He took her name away He made her a promise, saying, "I will be to them as a little sanctuary in the countries where they shall come." Ezek. xi. 16. Can He be said to have been this to the Jews? this were impossible, until they turn their face to acknowledge their Saviour. The Jews, or Judah, are under the Law, Israel is not. She is now, and must be found a people entirely free from the Mosaic covenants, not regarding the Mosaic rites, either in worship, sacrifices, or circumcision. Lost Israel has been completely divorced from this ceremonial law. Judah is not. This distinction is so plainly made to us by God. "And I saw, when for all the causes whereby backsliding Israel committed adultery I had put her away, and given her a bill of divorce, yet her treacherous sister, Judah, feared not." Jer. iii. 8. "Thus saith the Lord, where is the bill of your mother's divorcement, whom I have put away?" Is. 1. 1. Thus, a divorced woman, she becomes "desolate" and "forsaken," and that we may know that Israel was this desolate forsaken woman, we are told of the multitudinous seed. "For more are the children of the desolate than the children of the married wife, saith the Lord." Is. liv. 1. Paul saw this when speaking of the allegory of the two covenants, and says, "The desolate hath many more children than she which hath an husband." Gal. iv. 27. The whole gist of his argument being that the Galatians should free themselves as Israel had done, from the Judaising ceremonial, and "stand fast" in the liberty of Christ. That they must now be taught in Christ is manifest, for this was Christ's mission. "I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel." Matt. xv. 24. That Christ would have no part in spiritualising away the "Sure word," but meant the literal seed, is equally manifest by his first, earnest instructions to his twelve disciples. "Go not into the way of the Gentiles, and into any city of the Samaritans enter ye not; but go rather to the lost sheep of the house of Israel." Matt. x. 5. It was unto Israel God spake, "For the Lord hath called thee as a woman forsaken, and grieved in spirit. For a small moment have I forsaken thee, but with great mercies will I gather thee." Nay, Israel must now be literally a distinct national seed, waiting on God and believing in Christ, a people on whom God is bestowing His grace in a measure beyond what He is doing unto other nations. "Ephraim also is the strength of mine head." Psalm lx. 7. "The isles shall wait upon me, and on mine arm shall they trust." Is. li. 5. "And it shall come to pass, that in the place where it was said unto them, ye are not my people, there it shall be said unto them, ye are the sons of the living God." Hos. i. 10. Paul says the same, "There shall they be called the children of the living God." Rom. ix. 26. "I said not unto the seed of Jacob, seek ye me in vain." Is. lxv. 19. "Israel shall be saved in the Lord with an everlasting salvation." Is. xlv. 17. "Shew the house of Jacob their sins, yet they seek me daily, and delight to know my ways, they take delight in approaching to God." Is. lviii. 2. "The Redeemer shall come to them that turn from transgression in Jacob, saith the Lord." Is. lix. 20. "Arise, shine, for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee." Is. lx. 1. "Though Israel be not gathered, yet shall I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord, and my God shall be my strength." Is. xlix. 5. "The Lord sent a word into Jacob and it hath lighted upon Israel." Is. ix. 8; Is. li. 7; Is. lxiii. 8; Ps. xxi. 23; Jer. xxxxi. 18-20; Hos. ii. 23. "The Kingdom of God shall be given to a nation bringing forth the fruits thereof." Matt. xxi. 43. "Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, for He hath visited and redeemed His people." Luke i. 68. "To remember His holy covenant, the oath which He sware to our father Abraham, that He would grant unto us, that we being delivered out of the hand of our enemies, might serve Him without fear, to give knowledge of salvation unto His people." Luke i. 73, 74. These are all given to Israel, not one refer to Judah; and many other passages, if we had room to produce them, testify to Israel being a Christian people. As to Judah, so far from her being in Christ, it is vain to expect it for some years to come; it would be contrary to Scripture; Christ, who came from Judah, "came to His own, but His own received Him not," hence their rejection. Many times it is said, God would not hearken to them. Zech. vii. 13. They will return to the land under the Mosaic law, and will there re-establish the Temple Service, or chapters of Ezekiel xl. to xlvii., ending twelfth verse mean nothing; and men who solicit subscriptions in aid of Jewish conversions will almost invariably be found quoting Scripture referring only to Israel, and applying it to Judah, simply because no such texts exist for Judah. It is money thrown away, as facts themselves prove. It is only in the latter days that Judah will turn to Christ. Zech. xii. 10. And not until then will the two sticks become one: though both will be in the Land, still the Law (Mosaic) will go forth from Zion, "and the word of the Lord (Gospel through Israel) from Jerusalem." Mic. iv. 2. "Let God be true, but every man a liar." Rom. iii. 4.

THE IDENTITY. That the English have been more highly favoured with divine light above any other existing nation, has long been acknowledged. As a nation we are almost alone in being able to worship God according to our conscience, sitting, under our own vine and fig-tree, none daring to make us afraid. God has literally been to our people a sanctuary, and our lands are filled with His houses. Truly as a nation we may be said to have been exalted unto the heavens by our special privileges. He hath not dealt so with any other people. Indeed it is most pointed to remark, being, if not an identity, a most marvellous coincident, that in the time of our Saviour and his apostles our Saxon forefathers were not then in possession of Britain, but were wandering, in tribes, along the north-west of Europe and Asia (as proved by our own great historian, Sharon Turner), coming from the very parts where Israel was lost, and proceeding to the very parts that prophecy says Israel would take; that it was when we were in these parts that Christ sent His own disciples to them, that is—that when the apostles were sent after lost Israel, they went to Cappadocia, Galatia, Pamphylia, Lydia, Bithynia, and round about Illyricum; and it was in these very parts that our Saxon forefathers were passing through at this very time. With such light, the Lord may well say, "Who is blind but my servant?"
Though prophecy has declared that Israel in her Captivity should become a Christian Nation, it as plainly declares that the people should not be united in their religious opinions, but should be divided Sects, and be known under Denominational Names. The prophecies contained in the forty-fourth of Isaiah, which were given to Israel 712 B.C., or about thirteen years after their captivity (and 124 years before the captivity of Judah) promises assurances of favour, saying, God “will help thee;” though in captivity they were not to fear upon this point, for they were yet the chosen Nation, and whoever among the people became “thirsty,” desiring to be God's, such should be watered; upon such, God would pour His Spirit, and give His blessing upon their children; that the time was coming when these watered ones should “spring up as among the grass, as willows by the water courses.” Yet there would not be a thorough union in their Christian views, for “One shall say, I am the Lord's; and another shall call himself by the name of Jacob; and another shall subscribe his hand unto the Lord, and surname himself by the name of Israel.” Is. xliv. 5. Thus their different Churches, called by various names, would represent the opinions of each Sect. God declares this shall be the case with Lost Israel, and when they are nationally recognised, this shall be an identity; yea, this very division God says He is Himself going to call forth as a Witness to the Majesty of His Almighty Being, saying, “Have not I told thee from that time,” the time “since I appointed the ancient people that these things should be,” “that are coming, and shall come,” and that shall shew the marvellous foreknowledge of the Most High; even Christ Himself declared that there should be divisions on account of religion, and this can only refer to the time during which Israel is lost, for after her discovery we shall have no bigotry, no priestly assumptions, for it is this very discovery, her very identity, that leads to the time of which God speaks, when He says of Israel, that “with the voice together shall they sing, for they shall see eye to eye, WHEN the Lord shall bring AGAIN Zion,” Is. lii., 8, which most plainly implies, that now, during the present time, there does not exist a oneness of heart with Israel.

The Identity of our Nation on this head is most pointed. The diversity of opinion upon religious subjects is really painful to behold; perhaps on no other topic are we so much at variance with each other. The church stamped with the Nation's name is cut up into sections, oppressed by divisions; churches that are surnamed by the name of men, suffer under the same affliction, and churches called after the name of the Lord, still want much of the spirit of their Master. This is a most humiliating aspect of our Church History, plainly testifying that our very church life is under captivity. The very Heathen in their idol worship are more united, they have different idol gods, but there is more uniformity in the method of worship. All sincere lovers of our Lord must deplore division, and should be found ready at the very earliest moment to seek a remedy to cure the evil. It can never be done by Evangelical Alliances, or Christian Unions; these can only shew a desire for union, indicative that the time is close at hand for its enjoyment, but can never effect it; it can only be done by God's own means, and that is by our National Identity. It is one of the practical uses of my subject, and I call upon all Christians who earnestly desire the unity of the Spirit to act with wisdom, use God's means; remember it is nowhere promised until AFTER the Identity of Israel, God faithfully promises after our recognition to "take away all the detestable things," "and all the abominations," saying, "I will give them one heart." Ezek. xi. 19. The passage already quoted, Is. liii. 8, says the same thing, it is AFTER the Identity, not before. "For THEN will I turn to the people a pure language, that they may ALL call upon the name of the Lord, to serve Him with ONE CONSENT." Zeph. iii. 9. Surely, my fellow Christians, if there were no other blessing to obtain from our Identity, this alone would be invaluable; the most blessed service ever yet rendered to the Church. And, Brethren, be not deceived, the enjoyment of this oneness of heart and opinion does not imply the immediate dawn of the Millennium; it shall be ours to possess before this grand Age, for Israel shall dwell many years safely in her Land, before our Lord shall come in Glory. Ezek. xxxviii. 8. This we are distinctly promised, and God cannot lie, though the teachings of many of our Divines have appeared to make Him out unfaithful, yet Glory be to God, He is not. We shall have this union of heart, we shall reclaim possession of our Land, and when there the Gentile Nations shall flow to us to be taught of the Lord; this alone will occupy some years, and there are other great events that will in themselves be a work of time, and that must be accomplished before the appearing of our Lord; and though men have uttered error against the Lord by saying that He will not come, yet He will as surely come as we shall be Identified, the Spirit be poured out upon us, living as Christians in the royal law of love and unity, and that before He comes, which is not so immediate as some have led us to suppose.
IDENTIFICATION THE ELEVENTH.—SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

Israel in captivity, in her lost estate, must be distinguished from all other Nations of the earth by the fact that she must have a careful solicitude that her children should be taught in the Lord. God distinctly declares that this shall be the case with Israel, whereas I do not find that He has given the same instructions to any other Nation. Israel went into captivity 725 B.C., if the Chronology of our Bibles is correct. I find that in 698 B.C., or 27 years after the captivity, and while Judah was still in the land, that the Lord sends this after Israel. "As for me, this is my covenant with them, saith the Lord; my Spirit that is upon thee, and My words which I have put into thy mouth, shall not depart out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy seed, nor out of the mouth of thy seed's seed, saith the Lord, from henceforth and for ever." —Is. lxix. 21. Similar passages are to be found given before the children possessed the land, but I produce this to shew that the promise was not cancelled by the punishment of captivity. "I will pour my Spirit upon thy seed, and my blessing upon thine offspring." —Is. xliv. 3. "All thy children shall be taught of the Lord; and great shall be the peace of thy children." —Is. liv., 13. Israel only is here addressed, not Judah; the very next verse says she should be established in righteousness, and be far from oppression, whereas Judah was to be oppressed, which is a fact of the present day. Thus Israel must be a Nation that brings up her children in the knowledge of the Lord.

THE IDENTITY says that the English race are the only people so doing. Sunday-schools, especially provided for the training of our children in the Lord, exist with us, and our race as a National Institution, perhaps the greatest in point of blessing that we possess; true, they are modern in origin, still our forefathers in their more primitive ages were always particular in the religious training of their children, and reared some of the finest examples we have of Christian endurance and fortitude. It was only as the population increased, and poverty among the masses became more abundant, that the organisation of Sunday-schools became a necessity. Of our present population nearly seventy per cent. may be said to have passed through our Sunday-schools, Charity-schools, and Ragged-schools. In America the proportion is greater. Among the Upper and Middle classes, another twenty per cent. have been trained in the home circle in the Lord, so that we may safely say that ninety per cent. of the entire people have been taught of Christ. God does not work by miracles in these days. He works by the use of means, He has faithfully promised after our Identity is accepted by the Nation, to pour out His Spirit upon us as a people; the ground is already prepared for this outpouring, the instructions given by the Christian teachers are merely latent, "train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he shall not depart from it." We are not told there shall be no departure from the training between the period of childhood and old age; the reverse is implied, and the large mass of the ungodly testify that departure is a fact. Alas! alas! too apparent; still, Sunday-school teachers, you are not to be discouraged in your work, present results are not your promises, your great reward is future. I believe that Sunday-schools have been raised up purposely for the event of our Identity, and is the reason why they were not in existence over 70 years ago. The Lord is only waiting for our National anxiety to be Identified. We are to "give Him no rest until," &c. The matter is really in our hands; promulgate the truth of the Identity. God's promises are sure, He has only to breathe upon this prepared soil, and the masses of the people will declare for God, it will be no miracle, simply the workings of God's law of Nature, and then will be the harvest, and the fruit of all Sunday-school labour. Teachers, is there not a power for you to use in this subject? Be worthy of your vocation, it is in the power of nearly all of you to realise the positive reward of your past toil in your own life-time. You are the real power of the Church. Your Thought has led the way in many Questions. You cannot forget how you have achieved great things, notwithstanding opposition. We must remember that many of our ministers have publicly committed themselves to grave mistakes in Bible renderings, as a learned Divine expressed himself in my hearing recently; many of them have been too eager to appear to have found out what is not written, that they might seem to be abreast of an advanced age, and obtain a false fame for their scholarship. Experience has always testified that human nature is not too fast to acknowledge the committal of a mistake; therefore wait for no one, the Bible is common property, belongs to us all, and is as accessible to our understanding as to anybody else's; therefore, teachers, go to it, see for yourselves that these things be, and only abide by God's word, if you see therein these statements are facts; take the matter in your own hands, send it through the Nation like wildfire, and very soon it shall come to pass, that the Williams and Jameses, your Marthas and Marys, whom you remember to have taught in your Infant Schools, but who now, in the prime of their lives, are found by millions in the haunts of vice, shall once more pay heed to your voice, their early associations of your faithful labours in their school-life shall be revived in their memories, and they shall in masses return to our God as your harvest, your reward. God has promised this, and He is ever faithful.

IDENTIFICATION THE TWELFTH.—"ANOTHER TONGUE."

Abundant Scripture evidence has been advanced to prove that Israel in captivity would receive the gospel tidings, and be established as a Christian people. My next object is to shew that she would not receive these gospel truths or teach them to her children in her original or Hebrew language. God only refers to Israel, and not to Judah, when He says, "With stammering lips and another tongue will He speak to this people." Isa. xxviii. 11. Therefore it be plain that after the Assyrian captivity, Israel would acquire another speech, foreign to that she had used when in the land.

THE IDENTITY of ourselves to Israel, which is surely established, would render this point most striking. We have acquired a new speech, and it is "another tongue" to that used by our forefathers which the masses of our kindred read their Scriptures in. It is not too much to say that there are not more than one in every two hundred thousand of our race who understand the Hebrew language, a remark that cannot apply to Judah, for the very children of the Jews are instructed in Hebrew, and are trained to read their Old Testament Scriptures in that tongue.

We do not wish to underrate scholarship, but it is a remarkable fact that our most learned linguists have been singularly unfortunate in their interpretation of Scripture. We should be very sorry to understand the Old Testament as the Jews interpret it, who resort to the old tongue; and the very churches in our midst, who pride themselves most in being able to secure the services of scholars in Hebrew and Greek, really have made the least progress, seem to have the least light, and are the most inactive in home and foreign missionary operations. We have most faith in God's Word. He said He would speak to us in "another tongue," and in this, the "another tongue," we have been the most successful and triumphant, and have secured Christian vitality and spiritual health in the largest degree.

IDENTIFICATION THE THIRTEENTH.—PHYSIOGNOMY.

When Israel became a lost people, not only was she not to be known by her speech, but also by the cast of her features. To suppose that she would be recognised by her physiognomy is most illogical. If we wanted any person or thing to be placed in obscurity for a given time, we should obliterate all traces in disguise, or be chargeable with folly. Surely God would not be less wise than ourselves. If He had set a mark upon Israel, as He has done upon Judah, He would have defeated His own purposes; this very mark would have led to identity, as it has done in all countries in the case of the Jew. God has nowhere said that Israel should be known by her features; the idea is not given in the Bible. The supposition testifies to an incomplete knowledge of Scripture. God has only placed His mark upon Judah. It is of Judah only that it is said, "The shew of their countenance doth witness against them," Is. iii. 9. Nay, that the very reverse would be the case of Israel we have a clear type in Joseph, who, after he was sold in captivity, after only a few years' absence, was not recognised, either by voice or feature, by his own brothers.

THE IDENTITY need not be further extended. The Saxon or English race do not bear the Jewish cast of face; it is right that they should not. Whether we really bear the Israelitish stamp I am not so clear, for hitherto we have taken a false notion of Israel—we have been looking for them through the Jew, whereas the Jews are not Israel, but simply " of Israel." It may turn out that we have the Israelitish feature, which is not the Jewish; and it may be, even with the Jews, that their present features materially differ from what they had before they inherited their curses, for this very mark is one of the curses. They had it not in Babylon, for though there in captivity they were not under the curses, which did not overtake them till their second, or Roman captivity, after their rejection of Christ. Queen Esther in Babylon was not known as a Jewess. Esther ii. 10.

IDENTIFICATION THE FOURTEENTH.—
THE MISSIONARY WORK.

Israel was not only to be a Christian nation with her children taught in the Lord, but to her alone, of all the people of the earth, has been entrusted the great and glorious Missionary work. She cannot help being a missionary people, for God has decreed that she should be. It is her work, and she must be found true to her mission, for it is impossible for The Book not to be true. The missionary work has been entrusted to Israel, but most certainly not unto Judah; it would be nonsense to expect to find Judah's heart in the missionary cause; it is a fixed decree of the Almighty that she remain under the Mosaic Law during her captivity, and even when she returns to the Land—when she is placed there by Israel—even then will Judah be for a time under this Law; but Israel, the Christian nation, who remains in captivity until she comes to a knowledge of herself—this Israel, even in captivity, must abound in the work of the Lord; it is one of her birthright promises that Christ came not to destroy, but to confirm. Matt. v. 17. The missionary work was confided to her before her possession of Palestine: “In thee shall all families of the earth be blessed.” Gen. xii. 3. “And in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed.” Gen. xxvi. 4. Christ, who came from Judah (Judah being his own tribe), is the one seed in whom all living souls can be saved; but the seed of Israel—the “seeds as of many”—are to be the medium of conveying the glad tidings of this Saviour.

Christ came to His own, but His own (tribe) received Him not. “Therefore,” said Christ, “say I unto you, the kingdom of God shall be taken from you, and given to a NATION bringing forth the fruits thereof.” Matt. xxi. 43. So the work was alone entrusted to Israel. She by no means forfeited this high and holy prerogative by her captivity. Prophecy is most clear upon this point, as the following passages given after this event will shew: “Israel shall blossom and bud, and fill the face of the world with fruit.” Is. xxvii. 6. “I, the Lord, have called thee in righteousness, and will hold thine hand, and will keep thee, and give thee for a covenant of the people, for a light of the Gentiles.” Isa. xlii. 6. “This people have I formed for myself; they shall shew forth my praise.” Isa. xliii. 11. “Thou art my servant, O Israel, in whom I will be glorified.” Isa. xlix. 3. “I will also give thee for a light to the Gentiles, that thou mayest be my salvation unto the end of the earth.” Isa. lxxiii. 6. “And their seed shall be known among the Gentiles, and their offspring among the people; all that see them shall acknowledge them, that they are the seed which the Lord hath blessed.” Isa. lxvi. 8. “And the remnant of Jacob shall be in the midst of many people as a dew from the Lord, as the showers upon the grass.” Micah v. 7. “And your eyes shall see, and ye shall say, The Lord will be magnified from the border of Israel.” Mal. i. 5.

All the Gospels testify to the same fact. Christ tells us that He came after lost Israel, and says that all Scripture must be fulfilled, saying, “I have given them thy word.” John xvii. 14.
And alone speaks of Israel as the missionary people when He says, "Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on Me through their word." John xvii. 20. Surely nothing could be plainer than that Israel must be the great missionary people of the earth.

THE IDENTITY must be established on this point. Our race alone have the great missionary work in hand. We alone of all the nations have positively and literally obeyed Christ's commands by preaching the Gospel "in all the world for a witness unto all nations." Matt. xxiv. 14. Both in England and America Christians of each denomination endeavour to vie with each other in this glorious work. Our missionary societies are the glory of both lands, and of our colonies; each are in receipt of enormous revenues, and represent a world of zealous energy. In no other department of labour have our kindred displayed more courageous daring, determined boldness, and matchless bravery, than our men who, single-handed and undefended, have risked their lives in the cause of the Lord in missionary work. The so-called valour we have been taught from our childhood to admire in military men, pales when compared with the valour of the missionary. I fail to discover any real courage displayed by the soldiers of our forefathers when they marched round Jericho. The work was always done for them. It was always a question of mere blowing of rams' horns. They could not help succeeding; God willed it, and they had little more to do than to butcher runaway men as the war terminated in their favour, that the spoil might be greater and their pockets filled by the division of the prize-money. And all our wars ever since have been on a par. Bravery cannot consist in slaying fugitives. But the case of the missionary is quite another thing—here is valour. He braves odds fearfully against him; positively throws himself before the very teeth of cruel and wild savages, who have looked upon the white man as a rich dainty. Dr. Livingstone to wit, who, unaided by a single European, has fearlessly marched thousands of miles in the very thick of an unknown, unexplored country, daring to face tribes of man-eaters with the open Bible in his hand; and besides Moffat and Williams, we have a host of others who shall answer "Here," when God shall shortly call over the muster-roll of the missionary army. Yes, we only are in possession of this work that was only given to Israel to undertake, and thus we are furnished with another evidence that we are identical with that people. If we are not, then most assuredly, wherever Israel must be at this present time, she would be foremost in this great work, and her seed would be known among us, for she would make both England and America and all our Colonies her missionary stations. If we are not Israel—then wherever Israel may be, she would have translated the Bible from her language into ours for our own special use by her own Bible Society; she would have inundated our land with tracts and gospel books from her own Religious Tract Society, she would have built for us churches and chapels throughout the length and breadth of the British Isles, and surely, with our universally recognised advanced civilisation, she would have taken especial care to have cut up our country into bishoprics, and ecclesiastical districts; she surely would not be less foolish than Rome in such a matter as this. But no nation is doing this for us: Germany sends to us her missionaries of infidelity; and Rome, which has ceased to be a Church, became a mere French machine immediately the French troops entered the confines of Italy. She is now simply a French instrument in the hand of God, to raise the ire of the Greek Church, who will be the means of swamping Rome entirely in a few years hence, so that we have no nation sending missionaries to us. Therefore if we are not Israel, and Israel wherever she be is not doing this for us, then the Bible is not true, but a fabrication from beginning to end, and the many passages I have quoted stand for nothing, without meaning; but this is impossible; every word of the Bible is true, and the very fact that we in blindness have accomplished without one exception every mission given to Israel, irrevocably stamps every word as true, and witnesses that God is God. Is. xliii. 12. "Let God be true, but every man a liar." Rom. iii. 4.

And now, reader, may I say there is a fearful responsibility resting upon you, after reading this one identity? The whole missionary work now rests upon this subject. It is utterly impossible to secure the universal knowledge of the Lord, until lost Israel be recognised. God has not given a single promise of such a blessing in the entire Bible, until after our identity; it is not until then that the Gentile and heathen nations will flow to Israel to be taught of the Lord; therefore to go to our churches and pray, as we constantly do, for the prevailing knowledge of God, and ignore the identity of Israel, is merely hypocrisy. God Himself says that He will be inquired of by the House of Israel to do it for them, He commands us to give Him no rest until He makes Jerusalem a praise in the earth; therefore, to sincerely desire the universal knowledge implies the use of means, we must each seek to have our nation identified, it cannot come before; but God has faithfully promised that it shall be after. The gospel was first to be preached as a witness to all nations; this we have done, there does not exist a nation where we have not published it. We now only wait for the political resurrection of Israel, "For if the casting away of them be the reconciling of the world, what shall the receiving of them be but life from the dead?" Romans xi. 15. My subject might save millions of money now spent in missionary work, if the identity was speedily effected.
because after this event we reverse the order of proceedings; instead of our sending the Gospel out to the people, the Nations themselves will come to us. God has said it, and no man dare deny it. “The Gentiles shall come unto thee from the ends of the earth, and shall say surely our fathers have inherited lies, vanity and things wherein there is no profit, and they shall know that My name is the Lord.” Jer. xvi. 19. “God shall bless us, and (afterwards) all the ends of the earth shall fear Him.” Ps. lxvii. 7. “The Heathen shall know that I am the Lord God WHEN I shall be sanctified in you before their eyes.” Ezek. xxxvi. 23; Is. ii. 2, 3; Mic. iv. 1, 2; Is. xi. 9; Hab. ii. 14; Is. lv. 5; Is. lx. 2-12; Is. lixi. 2-4; Is. lixii. 10-12;

The day has now arrived when it no longer rests with the missionary to secure this long prayed for result, but with our Identity. Why is not this grand discovery in the hands of the Clergy? Mr. Wilson, a layman, gave the key note to this great subject more than 30 years ago; why have not the ministers taken the matter up? Why should the subject still be in the hands of a layman, and why should it be left to the congregations to force the question into the pulpit, when it should have been there from the first? Let but the church take the matter up, and seven years hence we could wind up the affairs of all the Missionary Societies in existence, dating them with things of the past, and even now it would be a justifiable and wise economy on the part of our large-hearted wealthy Christian merchants, to give their thousands in promulgating the truth of this Identity, which alone is to effect the crowning success of all missionary labour, rather than to the Societies. It would be a wise economy, saving millions. I say again the Gospel has been published AS A WITNESS unto all nations, its universal acceptation is nowhere promised until after lost Israel repossess her land, which repossession can only be secured by her Identity being known and established.

IDENTIFICATION THE FIFTEENTH.—

PHILANTHROPY.

Still continuing the cry, “where is the lost house of Israel,” and how shall they be found? we must answer, “by their fruits ye shall know them,” and under this heading we will give another description from Scripture of Israel in addition to the many already given. Wherever she be, her religious element, which shall be found largely to predominate, and be infused into all her Institutions, shall stamp her as having a kind and humane heart. I wish to be understood; to speak only of what shall come forth from her religious convictions, because politically, as represented by her Government, I find that until she becomes nationally Identified the reverse would be the case. Israel politically and commercially, as distinct from her better and religious life, will be found loving to oppress, Hos. xii. 7; but religiously she shall be found as a power throughout the world, uncompromisingly the hater of oppression, the unflinching opponent of despotism and tyranny, a people having a Christlike sympathy with all kinds of distress, and a manly and generous hand ever ready to relieve suffering. Her country would be a free asylum, a city of refuge for the persecuted and the exile, and to her, and her alone, has been entrusted the holy mission of the abolition of slavery. It was Israel, and not Judah, who was told to undo the heavy burdens, and to let the oppressed go free, by no possibility could this mission be given to Judah; for she was to be a servile people, serving her enemies in all countries. Jer. xvii. 4. It would therefore be absurd to suppose that Judah, herself oppressed, could let the oppressed go free. God is reasonable and never enjoins an impossible service from any people. It was after Israel had left the land, that the Lord found them fasting for strife and debate, and rebuked them. These fasts evidently nationally prescribed were not such as God desired, therefore He thus instructed them: "Is not this the fast that I have chosen? to loose the bands of wickedness, to undo the heavy burdens, and to let the oppressed go free, and that ye break every yoke? Is it not to deal thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poor that are cast out to thy house? when thou seest the naked that thou cover him; and that thou hide not thyself from thine own flesh?" Is. lviii. 6,7.

THE IDENTITY. In Philanthropy no nation has taken the strides that the English race have. We have enjoyed the three essentials, and employed them, the power, the will, and the means, and under the examples of such noble pioneers as Elizabeth Fry, Howard, Wilberforce, Buxton, Thompson, Forster, Pease, Brougham, and a host of others of greater and lesser lights, we have sacrificed millions, and achieved wonders on behalf of oppressed peoples, nor have our sons in the New World been behind in the work, under the influence of the teaching of such men as William Lloyd Garrison, Wendle Phillips, Eilhu Burritt, and Abraham Lincoln, they were led to have compassion for the bonds of slavery, and waged the most dire and complete war that has ever been fought, at the cost of immense wealth and streams of blood, that they might burst those bonds asunder. Can we not also point to stately buildings positively teeming throughout our land, many of them magnificently endowed by the hand of benevolence, whose doors are opened to suffering humanity? At home or abroad, in countries our own, and not our own, when a real necessity presents itself our hand is opened to assist, so that this Identity must be considered complete. The only thing that might seem to mar its completeness is that scandal to England, the mode of poor relief in this country, where poverty is treated as crime, where our Unions are generally made as uncomfortable as possible, the officials selected for their excelling in harshness, and heavy rates squandered upon interests that do not administer to the comfort and well-being of the poor in their declining days. But this abomination springs from our political, which is apart from our better life, and the time is at hand when our Nation shall no longer be governed by party Spirit, but by Bible principles. Goshen is a town of Judah, and interpreted means "approaching," "drawing near," therefore let us see an omen that the oppression of the Poor Law Board is "drawing near" to a close. We have no business with much poor in England. The Bible says so, Deut. xv. 4, and we have to thank our Governments for most of the pauperism and poor rates that they have indulged us with. I shall have to recur to this matter specially, but must say here that if we only took the advice of Florence Nightingale, and sent forth our poor to till God's earth in the millions of acres that He has given us for this express purpose, and that are now, to our shame, and to the disgrace of our Government, lying waste, in a few years we could sweep pauperism entirely away and abolish the devil-born term, and along with it the Poor Law Board and its iniquities. Let but the cash that is now wasted upon Privy Seals and objectionable sinecures be diverted to this channel, and then we shall be able to say that the real welfare of the Nation is studied. Surely true Statemanship would see wisdom in doing this voluntarily, rather than have to pass through the mortification of having to do it by the pressure of opinion, or resigning office as unprofitable servants.

IDENTIFICATION THE SIXTEENTH.—THE ARMY.

As the grandeur of our subject opens up to the mind of the English Nation, perhaps no point will take them so much by surprise as that of the army. Most certainly there are but few topics that will more plainly testify to the masses of the people the unerring sureness of God's word. The Bible as handled by our ministers has been divested of so much of its beauty by its national, political, and social aspects, being almost entirely submerged under the one ruling thought of their mind, by which everything is turned to a spiritual account, that the political subjects of the Book, comprising a volume in themselves, have been toned down and abstracted, by their having been made to give way to spiritual applications; thus we are distinctly told in Scripture that Israel, after she was lost, would become the most powerful nation on earth; would have the first and best army in the world; and that by their soldiers they would not only obtain a "Balance of Power," but positively have lordship, become dominant, and exercise authority over the Gentiles; and this subject, given forth to the people in its entirety, its purity, and proved before them, would have rivetted their attention, and have gained their admiration for our grand old Bible as a book of truth; but with a class of men, when God speaks to our nation and tells us that we should "possess the gates of our enemies," they at once turn aside its natural and true meaning, by saying that God simply means that souls in Christ should possess mastery over the devil, and so it is not to be wondered at that under this everlasting spiritual mutilation, applying every iota of the Scripture to the soul, soul, soul, that the book has ceased to be interesting to so great a proportion of our population. The vindication of God's sure and precious word is higher in purpose, and in duty, is a more Divine purpose of life than the salvation of a human soul! The majesty of God's word must ever be esteemed a more important matter than the well-being of His children! "Let God be true, if thereby every man becomes a liar." Rom. iii. 4. Nay, may we as a people ever desire to esteem God, before we esteem ourselves, knowing that it is only as He is glorified, that we ourselves can share His Glory, let us take Him at His word; dreading to "add unto" or to "take away from" the words of the prophecy of this book; so that when He says Israel shall be warlike, we may be quite sure that He means it, in the matter of powder and shot, bayonet and sword, and not simply warriors for truth; therefore, in looking for Lost Israel we must find her "Chief of the Nations" in the art of war, still maintaining her ancient character, that of being "terrible from the beginning hitherto." Is. xvii. 7. This is Israel's birthright, of which she has never been divested, and it is impossible that any nation can be identified with her unless so found; she must be foremost in power. "By myself have I sworn, saith the Lord," unto Abraham, "thy seed shall possess the gate of his enemies," Gen. xxii. 17; and when Rebekah was blessed it was said, "let thy seed possess the gate of those which hate them," Gen. xxiv. 60. Unto Jacob it was said, "let people serve thee, and nations bow down to thee; be lord over thy brethren." Gen. xxvii. 29. The Gate was the Seat of Government—the Cabinet—to possess which was to conquer, to defeat; Israel of old always effected this by the instruments of war, the spear, the bow, and battle-axe, and in these days would be found using this power by the more modern appliances; by no means did she forfeit this prerogative by the punishment of her captivity, she must still be chief in military matters, because 13 years after their captivity this was sent after Israel, "thou art my servant; I have chosen thee and not cast thee away." * * *
“they that war against thee shall be as nothing,” Is. xlii. 9-12, 27 years after God says to Israel, “for the nation and kingdom that will not serve thee shall perish,” Is. lx. 12, and 130 years afterwards God says to Israel, and not to Judah, “thou art my battle-axe and weapons of war: for with thee will I break in pieces the nations, and with thee will I destroy the kingdoms.” Jer. li. 20. Luke saw this truth, and records “That we should be saved from our enemies, and from the hand of all that hate us, to perform the mercy promised to our fathers; the oath which He sware to our father Abraham.” Luke i. 71. There are many other passages to prove the fact that Israel must be, by the will of God, chief in war, making THE IDENTITY so plain that it is needless to dilate, or pages might be consumed by the bare mention of our conquests. Interesting accounts of many of them may be found in a work recently published, entitled “A Synoptical Account of the GREAT EUROPEAN BATTLES.” I have no delight in war, therefore forbear to treat further on this head. If I proceeded it would be with the object of detracting from the merits of the long boasted daring and bravery of our officers and men, which we have so unduly been called upon to admire. We readily grant that we have some few individual cases where real courage has been displayed, but generally there has been no need for courage. We have gone forth confident of victory; the raw recruit, the mere closhopper from the field has been sufficient for the service. God has willed that we should triumph, without the exercise of daring or feats of bravery. He Himself has said so, and I take Him at His word, for in speaking to Israel about her wars He distinctly says, “Thou shalt be far from oppression; for thou shalt not fear:
and from terror; for it shall not come near thee.” Is. liv. 14.
And this is why inexperienced young men are found sufficient to officer our regiments, whereas other powers require men of judgment. I do not speak of our civil wars here, for, as in the days when our forefathers were in the land, real bravery would be required for these, and we have always displayed it in such wars, and never was it more fearfuly manifested upon any part of the earth, than by our sons across the water in their recent conflict with each other; but as to our wars with other Nations, the great fear that our men have suffered under has been from the woeful blunders of our War Office officials in the peaceful abode of Pall-Mall. But in positive war, David's experience has always been ours—“Through Thee will we push down our enemies; through Thy name will we tread them under that rise up against us, for I will not trust in my bow, neither shall my sword save me, but Thou hast saved us from our enemies, and hast put them to shame

* Simpkin, Marshall and Co.
that hated us." Ps. xlv. 5. "Ascribe ye strength unto God, His excellency is over Israel;" "the God of Israel is he that giveth strength and power unto His people." Ps. lxviii. 34. "Through God we shall do valiantly, for He it is that shall tread down our enemies." Ps. cviii. 13. Of Israel it is said—"who if he go through, both treadeth down and teareth in pieces, and none can deliver; thine hand shall be lifted up upon thine adversaries, and all thine enemies shall be cut off." Mic. v. 9.

IDENTIFICATION THE SEVENTEENTH.—
THE NAVY.

It being so indisputable that Israel must be the most famous Nation in army matters, and having such positive testimony that her seat of Government would be in "the isles," it would be an absurdity to suppose that she did not also occupy the first position in Naval affairs. Wherever Israel is, the tribe of Dan is still with her to supply her mariners, and also the tribe of Asher to superintend her marine artillery, these were specially trained in maritime operations when Israel was in land, and would more fully develop their training in after years, for be it observed that nearly the whole of the sea coasts were allotted to the tribeships of Israel, Judah having no portion of the Mediterranean, but only a small slip of the Dead Sea Coast, comparatively worthless for acquiring skill in naval art. This training was not required from Judah, therefore the facilities were not given to her, but we know Israel did acquire this knowledge; for we are told that "Hiram sent in the navy his servants, shipmen that had knowledge of the sea, with the servants of Solomon," 1 Kings ix. 27, and after her captivity this knowledge would become most important, because when they reached "the isles," and formed their Government, as their people increased, they were to take their surplus population from these islands and make new conquests elsewhere, God promising to "lead them, even by the springs of water shall He guide them," Is. xlix. 10. It is said of Israel, "that his seed shall be in many waters, and his kingdom shall be exalted." Num. xxiv. 7. The Psalmist speaks of God making His way in the sea, and His path in great waters. Ps. lxxvii. 19. Israel is of those who go down to the sea in ships, and do business in great waters." Ps. cvii. 23. It is Israel that is thus specially commanded, "Sing unto the Lord a new song, and His praise from the end of the earth." And then his Naval power is recognised, for it is said, "Ye that go down to the sea, and all that is therein, the isles, and the inhabitants thereof."
Is. xlii. 10. "The enemy shall not exact upon him. . . . I will beat down his foes before his face. . . . My mercy shall be with him. . . . I will set his hand also in the sea, and his right hand in the rivers." Ps. lxxxix. 22-25.

THE IDENTITY here is so plain that it is needless to enlarge; all our school-children have for ages been taught to laud the supremacy of our Nation in matters of the Navy, and to assign to Britain the favourable position of being Mistress of the Seas, a position that was only to be occupied by Israel, and that is alone occupied by us.

IDENTIFICATION THE EIGHTEENTH.—

STOCK-BROKING.

I am so anxious to annihilate the very prevalent notion, that Israel in these days refers exclusively to the Church, or professed believers in Christ, that in the present edition of this work I have introduced Stock-Broking as an Identity, a function clearly belonging to Israel, but certainly having nothing to do with the rites of a religious service. It is distinctly assigned unto Israel to be the most wealthy Nation upon the face of the earth, and she must be so found. This was a distinguishing privilege from her beginning, and not a single iota of her privileges has been taken from her, but rather added unto. Israel was to acquire such wealth as to be in a position to lend money to every Nation requiring Cash, and who could offer reasonable security for the Loan, no other Nation but Israel was to do this; not only was she to be able to lend to such Nations large sums, but she would be so wealthy as never to require to borrow from them; thus we shall find Israel holding a long string of securities from other Nations, with a long list of loans, bearing interest, which in itself would entail almost endless negotiations, ramification of accounts, transfers of stock, settlement of dividends, and cashing of coupons, for thus is this distinct promise given to Israel. "For the Lord thy God blesseth thee, as He promised thee; and thou shalt lend unto many Nations, but thou shalt not borrow." Deut. xv. 6. The same promise is repeated word for word, xxviii. 12, and as each separate promise would imply the creation of the needful apparatus to give it force, so this promise undoubtedly would call into being a Stock Exchange, a choice of Investments, a staff of Stock-brokers, professional Accountants, and Banking operations, settling days and commission agencies, and as nothing as yet is perfect in the world, from these things would spring abuses, as well as legitimate uses, that it by no means would become unreasonable to suppose that we should hear of "Bulls" and "Bears," "puts" and "calls," and gambling speculations.

THE IDENTITY simply has to declare that the English Nation is the only Nation on earth lending to many Nations, and not requiring to borrow from them. This was only to be done by Israel, but is alone done by us, and should be sufficient in itself to establish the Identity. Any Stock-broker would testify that we lend to all the more powerful Nations, to Russia, to France, to Austria and Italy, and some capitalists may remember something about Spanish and Mexican stocks; reference to any current Stock List would shew our position. Such is our wealth, that while the Argentine and Honduras States might think they were doing a great thing in borrowing from us a million, we would think it a very little and immaterial thing to make the very trifling mistake of two or three millions in our Abyssinian accounts. This would be too Lowe an affair to call forth much comment.

IDENTIFICATION THE NINETEENTH.—
COMPANY OF NATIONS.

Another characteristic under which Israel must be found is that of not only having become a Nation, but afterwards having grown into a Company of Nations; as sure as God's word is true, so surely must she be found in this position. One of God's first promises to Abraham was, "I will make of thee a great Nation." Gen. xii. 2. This promise was afterwards enlarged, thus."Thou shalt be a father of many Nations." Gen. xvii. 4. "I will make Nations of thee." Gen. xvii. 6, and it was said unto his wife Sarah, "She shall be a mother of Nations." Gen. xvii. 16. This promise was ratified to Jacob, "A Nation, and a Company of Nations shall be of thee," Gen. xxv. 11, and was again passed unto Ephraim, "his seed shall become a multitude of Nations." Gen. xlviii. 19. Again, I protest against the injustice that certain men do to the Bible, when they spiritualise away the literal meaning of these passages. It is not meant that Nations who receive Christ should form a Company of Christian Nations; Abraham would be indignant at this idea; he sent to his own country, and to his own kindred, for a wife for his son, that the legitimate seed might be preserved; Sarah said "the son of this bondwoman shall not be heir with my son, with Isaac," and God Himself, to show that He did not include the Gentile race in these promises, said, "in Isaac shall thy seed be called." Gen. xxvi. 12. Give but the Bible its true and natural rendering to our people, and it will become as a new book in their hands, full of historic and sacred interest, a book which the masses will delight to study; whereas, with the many nonsensical interpretations rendered by our ministers, it has been divested of interest and put aside. In such a matter as this, let them but see that after Israel was lost, God decreed that they should become a Nation, and a Company of Nations, and their interest would be excited to look for a people upon the face of the earth answering to this description, and would be led to agree with THE IDENTITY that our own people was the only people on the Globe that had so become. Having formed a "Strong Nation" in Britain, we went forth and formed another in America, another has been formed in Canada, who has her separate Parliament, under her own Prime Minister, for enacting her own Laws, and with the same privileges we find another in Australia, and another in New Zealand, and another in South Africa; these have sprung forth from our own race, without taking into account our Indian possessions, governed by a separate Parliament, and other dependencies, so that we have positively become a Nation, and a Company of Nations. Israel only was to become this; and we are the only Nation on earth that have so become.

IDENTIFICATION THE TWENTIETH.— THE MEASURING LINE.

Under this heading we present one of the most sublime and powerful proofs of the majesty and truthfulness of God's sure word that can be found throughout the entire volume. This alone when it is seen, which it eventually will be, and that shortly, will win the admiration of the entire world. Perhaps more than any other point, it shews that the whole creation, from the very beginning, has been a splendid design, that could only originate in the mind of the Omnipotent, Omnipresent, and Omniscient GOD. The Almighty from the very first foresees, from the time that He places our first parents in the Garden, all the Nations and kindreds that should come forth from them in after ages; He sees the creation of different families, He sees how some would grow into vast multitudes, He decrees how some Nations should rise to great power, and then become extinct, He sees the different locations of separate people on the face of the earth, how single Nations would grow into such multitudes as to defy the power of man to grasp with his intellect any adequate conception of the magnitude. Yet God arranges for the whole, provides their plans, and settled, nearly 6000 years ago, that for the 800,000,000 of souls or thereabouts, that are now upon the earth, there should be one selected Nation from this mass that should be more highly favoured than the rest, and that this one Nation should have such a host of possessions in all parts of the world, not so much situated in the interior of Continents, but along the sea coasts, by the "sides of the earth," so as to form a cord or measuring line, to go right round the globe and enclose or encircle all the other Nations of the world, and for this arduous, superhuman, gigantic undertaking, Israel was selected; it is alone her work, and it is utterly impossible that any other Nation should be found accomplishing it. The character of the work is distinctly told us by Moses, who says, "When the Most High divided to the Nations their inheritance, When He separated the sons of Adam, He set the bounds of the people according to the number of the children of Israel. For the Lord's portion is His people, Jacob is the lot (measuring line) of his inheritance," Deut. xxxii. 7-9. This truth is recognised by Jeremiah, who, in talking about the Gentiles, says, "The portion of Jacob is not like them; for He is the former of all things, and Israel is the rod of His inheritance," Jer. x. 16; this is also repeated, Jer. ii. 19. "Remember thy congregation which thou hast purchased of old, the rod of thine inheritance which thou hast redeemed." Ps. lxxiv. 2. "I will cause thee to ride upon the high places of the earth, and feed thee with the heritage of Jacob thy father, for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it." Is. lviii. 14. Thus, this mission given to Israel is a masterpiece of Divine arrangement, an appointment that only could be executed by the Almighty; a matter in which the power or the will of man is left entirely out of the question. He could not conceive the plan, far more carry it out; so much so, that though plainly told us from the beginning, even Christians among our own people, who have made the Bible a life study, have not themselves understood this point; have passed it over with some vague notion, and it is only as the thing is effected, completed, positively accomplished, and seen by us as done, that we are called to come and look, and lost in wonderment and admiration, we cannot but be amazed and convinced of the Supreme Power and Wisdom shewn forth by God. Surely in searching for evidences to the truth of God's word, we want no dead stones dug up from the depth of the earth, for we have but to call forth THE IDENTITY and we have living witnesses, speaking masses to testify that His word is true. We are the people that have done this thing. Our Nation have possessions that literally dot round the coasts of the entire world; we only; by our possessions, have become a people that form a boundary line, a cord, or Measuring Line that encircles all the other Nations of the earth; Israel only was to do this, we alone have done it.
“On the sceptre of Queen Victoria the sun never sets.” “The Queen’s morning drum beats all round the world.” We not only encompass the earth, but form a complete circle round each Hemisphere. It is a grand fulfilment of prophecy by us, a perfect marvel in itself. We become a living power to prove God’s Word inspired. Let but the masses be brought to see the speaking splendour of this accomplishment, in its pure and natural signification, apart from the puny interpretation of man, and they could not fail to recognise the power and the wisdom of the Creator, and to give their verdict that their entire submission to Him is due. Get a map and trace how literally we have done this thing; take the Eastern Hemisphere, and begin with British Islands, Heligoland, Gibraltar, Malta, Gambia, Sierra Leone, Gold Coast, Lagos, Saint Helena, Cape of Good Hope, Natal, Mauritius, Straits’ Settlements, India, Ceylon, Labuan, Western Australia, South Australia, Victoria, Queensland, Tasmania, Hong Kong, and then West Canada, thus completing the circle. The same thing is done round the Western Hemisphere, by our Hudson’s Bay Territory, Canada, British Columbia, United States (our own race), Islands in the Pacific, New Zealand, Falkland Islands, British Guiana, Trinidad, Windward Islands—Grenada, Barbadoes, Saint Lucia, Saint Vincent, Tobago—Leeward Islands—Antigua, Montserrat, Saint Christopher, Nevis, Virgin Islands, Dominica, Jamaica, British Honduras, Turks’ Islands, Bahamas, Bermuda—United States (east coast), Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick, Newfoundland, when we again complete a second circle, which establishes our Identity as indisputable. And writing in the midst of the “rumours of wars,” should the great power of the South make conquests rapidly, and should these conquests, instead of being strength, become the source of weakness, that in the mighty efforts made, it becomes exhausted in the very climax of success, and thus falls an easy victim into the hands of the King of the North, who in this way would become possessed of the entire Continent of Europe, and much of Asia (Palestine excepted). Why! should these arrangements be shortly accomplished, and the life of our Queen be spared, then we should have the literal fulfilment of that remarkable prophecy, “The Lord hath created a new thing in the earth; a woman shall compass a man.” Jer. xxxi. 22. But this is merely given as a thought, and is apart from the mission of my work; nevertheless, our Identity, and the “rumours of wars,” are contemporary events.
Another most interesting test in the Identification of Lost Israel is the fact that there could not now be in existence any Nation who had made war upon her. Israel, in the exercise of her mission, to have lordship over the Gentiles, might be the first to declare war with others, and after having put forth her authority, such Nations might continue in being, but whatever Nation should take upon herself to declare war with Israel, by the sureness of God's word, that Nation should cease to be. This we know to be a fact with those Nations that warred against Israel when she had a political existence, such as the Midianites, Philistines, and others, or the more powerful Nations, such as the Babylonians, and the Assyrians. But God's word is still in force, for the promise was again and again re-delivered to them, after their captivity, for even when she was Lost, Nations would gather against them. “Behold they shall surely gather together, but not by me; whosoever shall gather together against thee shall fall for thy sake; no weapon that is formed against thee shall prosper. This is the heritage of the servants of the Lord.” Is. liv. 15-17. “For the Nation and Kingdom that will not serve thee shall perish.” Is. lx. 12. “Behold at evening-tide trouble; before the morning he is not. This is the portion of them that spoil us, and the lot of them that rob us.” Is. xvii. 14. “Though I make a full end of all Nations whither I have scattered thee, yet will I not make a full end of thee.” Jer. xxx. 11. “All they that devour thee shall be devoured; and all thine adversaries, every one of them, shall go into captivity; and they that spoil thee shall be a spoil, and all that prey upon thee will I give for a prey.” Jer. xxx. 16. These are not promises given to Judah, but only to Israel; they become utterly nonsensical when spiritualised and applied to Churches, after the manner of some of our learned Divines, because cruel infidelity has long made aggressive war upon spiritual truth, and yet is rampant; and if in ignorance we should apply them to the Jews, we then make them to speak what is untrue; because every Nation now on the earth has fulfilled God's word by oppressing the Jew, and has grown in strength; and it was decreed that Israel herself should war against Judah, for “Manasseh, Ephraim; and Ephraim, Manasseh; they together shall be against Judah.” Is. ix. 21. And the time is not now, but is yet to come, when these Two Houses shall cease to vex each other.

THE IDENTITY is most clear upon this point, for our Ancestry, traced to the very spot where Israel was lost, finds our early forefathers under the Assyrian yoke at the time when that Nation was the most powerful on earth, and from that point to these isles, all the tribeships that History affirms made war with our race have ceased to be; and when we arrived here the Roman Empire who opposed us, the mightiest Nation the world had then seen, after a lapse of years, politically expired, so that now, there does not exist a single Nation who had been the first to spoil us. This cannot be said of any other Nation upon earth, as a reference to the strongest powers will prove; for we ourselves have warred against Russia, and forbade her to take Turkey, and are yet in being. When France was in her prime, we buried her first Emperor in our own ground. Through our troops, we made China open her ports to our trade. This very day we possess Gibraltar, which is a part of Spain. Shewing that we not only exist after having made war with the strongest powers, but have also used the prerogative given to Israel, that of having lordship over the Gentiles and exercising authority upon them, and are the only Nation that have so done.

IDENTIFICATION THE TWENTY-SECOND.

"THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND."

Solomon, who was given to foresee the captivity of Israel, made special entreaties with God concerning this people when Captive, and it is worthy of remark he connects the two great events, the withdrawal of the Latter Rain from the Land, and the Captivity, together; and it is interesting to see that as they went together, so they have returned together; after this rain has been withheld for hundreds of years, it has only recently been restored, according to promise, and with it the Identity of Israel, which is surely a certain testimony that it is God's set time for her discovery. Solomon's petition, accepted by God, was, that Israel when Captive and given to national prayer, should in prayer have their faces towards the East. He says, "When the heaven is shut up, and there is no rain, because they have sinned against Thee; yet if they pray TOWARD this place, and confess Thy name, and turn from their sin—then hear Thou them from heaven, and forgive the sins of Thy servants, of Thy people Israel, and send rain upon Thy land;" and further on he says, "If they carry them away captives unto a land far off, or near, If they return to Thee with all their heart and with all their soul in the land of their captivity, whither they have carried them captives, and PRAY TOWARD THEIR LAND," &c. 2 Chron. vi. 26-38. The whole chapter is most beautiful and worthy of being read, as it proves that Israel is a nationality, and in a natural capacity would be found in prayer with their faces turned toward the East, which gives us a clear IDENTITY in our own National Establishment, the Church of England, whose practice has ever been (though in entire ignorance of our subject) to confess their sins with their faces turned towards the East; and even in the burial of the dead the idea is recognised, by the body being entombed with the face turned Eastward, and though this has been regarded by some sections of the Dissenting Church as verging upon Superstition, yet it is not; it is a most literal carrying out of the plan recorded, 1 Kings viii. 44, and accepted by God on our behalf, and should be a standing obligation until our Captivity is turned and the Land is restored to us, for this is the consummation of the arrangement.

Also as to the Architecture of our Churches in the days of our forefathers, Mr. Wilson makes the following interesting remarks. "The English Cathedrals appear to have been built after the fashion of the temples they frequented previous to their conversion to Christianity. And these Cathedrals, it has been observed, seem evidently to be built after the design of the temple at Jerusalem. Like this, they have their most holy place, the altar; and the holy place, the choir; and the court outward from thence, for the body of the people; the more minute parts and ornaments will, in general, be found to be exceedingly correspondent."

Do not let me be understood as saying that the Church of England therefore is the one perfect Church, for she is not. No Church can be perfect until after our Identity has been nationally recognised, when God faithfully promises to pour out His spirit on our seed, and to give us a oneness of heart, when even our Ritualists will forsake their idols; this is promised; until then, we can "let them alone," for they are childishly powerless. But the Church of England is distinctly recognised in Scripture as a National Establishment, and has only by-and-bye to make a few alterations, when she will become the most glorious Church ever founded on the earth. Her present description will be found in Ezek. xliii. 7-9. Nearly all the rest, from the 40th chapter to the 12th verse of the 47th, refers to the re-establishment of the Temple service for Judah, but not for Israel, for the Law (Mosaic) is yet to go forth from Zion, and the word of the Lord (the Gospel through Israel) from Jerusalem.

IDENTIFICATION THE TWENTY-THIRD.—

FREEMASONRY.

It is not my intention to enlarge upon this heading further than to remark, that Freemasonry has a direct Israelitish origin, and one of the main reasons why the North American Indians and the Nestorians have been reputed to be the descendants of the lost ten tribes, was because a species of Freemasonry was found in their midst. But surely, if Freemasonry in the nineteenth century has any head-quarters, it is to be found in Britain, and our subject might give to the craft new life and impetus in extending their operations: information on this subject had better be obtained from the Lodges, or from Bro. Geo. S. Kenning, Little Britain.

IDENTIFICATION THE TWENTY-FOURTH.—
DRUNKENNESS.

This is a painful Identity, but to bring forth our subject impartially, we must be true, and shew forth the dark side as well as the bright. Israel must be found with the shame of drunkenness active in her midst. It must be one of her prominent vices, or, if the private interpretation rendered by a large class of the ministry be correct, to wit, that Israel in these days is exclusively the Church, then most surely the Black Cloth must carry the sad signs of debauchery and revelry about with them to a fearful extent, surely it would be a folly with them that Church discipline would not touch, for the Bible infers that this sin in Israel would so largely prevail. But I call upon my readers not to credit the Ministry when they say that Israel is the Church, for she is not.
Israel is a nation, distinct from other nations, more highly favoured than France, Russia, Prussia, or any other power; this the Bible declares, which is the safe guide, better than the dictum of any man, whatever reputation for learning he may have. "The Lord hath chosen thee to be a peculiar people unto Himself, ABOVE ALL THE NATIONS that are upon the earth." Deut. xiv. 2.
"What ONE NATION in the earth is like thy people, even like Israel." 2 Sam. vii. 23. "AN HOLY NATION," 1 Peter ii. 9, and until the promised Spirit be poured upon her after her Identity, Israel, as a distinct nation, would include the good and bad of that nation, and this in a fair and natural way accounts for the drunkenness that prophecy declares would be found in Israel.
"Woe to the crown of pride, to the drunkards of Ephraim whose glorious beauty is a fading flower which are on the head of the fat valleys of them that are overcome with wine! * * * But they also have erred through wine, and through strong drink are out of the way; the priest and the prophet have erred through strong drink, they are swallowed up of wine, they are out of the way through strong drink, they err in vision, they stumble in judgment." Is. xxviii. 1-7. From this we gather that Ephraim is not only given to Ritualism, but also to drink, but the "they also" includes Zebulon and Napthali, Dan and Asher, for these are they "that turn the battle to the gate," and they, like Ephraim, together with Issachar and Reuben of the valleys, would be at times "overcome with wine."

THE IDENTITY of our nation here surely speaks for itself; drunkenness is a dark page of our national history, it has a world-wide notoriety, it infects all our institutions at home, and perhaps the greatest difficulty that our Missionaries abroad have had to contend against, has been the example set forth to the Gentiles by the drunkards of our own nation, and has severely counterbalanced the good they have sought to effect. And here let me say to our Temperance friends throughout the country, that their organisations, however well arranged, will never eradicate this evil; it will only be overcome by God's own plan, and can alone be effected through the medium of Our Identity; nothing else can remove drunkenness. God Himself says so in this very chapter, "IN THAT DAY shall the Lord of hosts be for a crown of glory," instead of "the crown of pride to the drunkards." "By this, therefore, shall the iniquity of Jacob be purged; and this is all the fruit to take away his sin." Is. xxvii. 9. Nothing can be plainer; after our Identity drunkenness will be removed, and we shall be able to use the good gifts from God, instead of abusing them. David, the prophet, more than once says, "WHEN God bringeth back the Captivity of His people, Jacob shall rejoice, Israel shall be glad." Ps. liii. 6. This is AFTER THE IDENTITY, not BEFORE.

IDENTIFICATION THE TWENTY-FIFTH.—FALSE WEIGHTS.

Israel must be found with a section of her people inclined to fraudulent trading, lending themselves to the abominations of false measures, deceitful balances, and unjust scales. These are Identities of Israel, and we introduce them that we may make one more effort to destroy the injurious impression that Israel signifies the spiritual Church, for it is manifest that the Church of Christ could have nothing to do with such sins. It is said of Israel, "He is a merchant, the balances of deceit are in his hand." Hos. xii. 7. The next verse acknowledges that he had "become rich" by such means. "I have found me out substance," and implying that it was done without offending the legal law: "they shall find none iniquity in me that were sin." "Saying, When will the new moon be gone, that we may sell corn? and the Sabbath, that we may set forth wheat, making the ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifying the balances by deceit?" Amos viii. 5. These are the characteristics of a portion of the trading community in Israel. "Tricks in trade," "clever strokes of business," merchants with "eyes standing out in fatness," given to the "winking of the eye," "speaking with the feet," "teaching with the fingers." God saw all this in Israel after her captivity, and says, "Are there yet the treasures of wickedness in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure that is abominable? Shall I count them pure with the wicked balances, and with the bag of deceitful weights? for the rich men thereof are full of violence." Micah vi. 10. Thus it is evident that the Judgment will record the history of many men in Israel who increased their substance by unrighteousness, Bankers Merchants and Tradesmen who in their day passed as respectable men, but who at last will testify to the truth of the Scripture that says, "The bread of deceit is sweet to a man, but afterwards his mouth shall be filled with gravel;" and it is interesting to observe that in the same category are placed the fraudulent merchant and the Ritualistic priest. Israel was punished "because they sold the righteous for silver, and the poor for a pair of shoes," Amos. ii. 6; and after their captivity Isaiah distinctly recognises the dealer in Ritualism, saying, "The vile person will speak villainy, and his heart will work iniquity, to practise hypocrisy, and to utter error against the Lord, and to make empty the SOUL of the hungry." Is. xxxii. 6. Jeremiah was commissioned to say to them, "Woe be unto the pastors that destroy and scatter the sheep of my pasture." xxxiii. 1. Ezekiel gives a third testimony against them, "Son of man, prophesy against the shepherds of Israel, prophesy, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God unto the shepherds: Woe be to the shepherds of Israel that do feed themselves! should not the shepherds feed the flocks? Ye eat the fat, and ye clothe you with the wool, ye kill them that are fed: but ye feed not the flock." xxxiv. 2, 3.

THE IDENTITY has no obscure corner here, need not speak with an uncertain voice. Surveyors of weights and measures have long been a necessity with us, many tradesmen have reason to hang down their heads with shame as they call to mind their official visits. The very mention of Adulteration would create a world of suggestion. What chapters the Counter might dictate of 11 yards sold for 12, old patterns for new. What tales our County Courts tell of good fish and fruit packed at the top, the rest running down inferior. What a long list many of us could write, of large city Warehousemen, Merchants, Bankers, and Stock Exchange Firms, known in our youth, who have succumbed to the principle of the passage which says, "As the partridge sitteth on eggs, and hatcheth them not; so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall be a fool." Jer. xvii. 11. Here we have our Railway Directors, curses, instead of blessings, who rob the land of the Sabbath, and pay away their profits in accident compensations. Then as to the passages bearing on the priesthood, they were given to Israel, they must apply to some Class in our midst. They cannot apply to the standard Clergy of the Church of England; they have ever been the salt of our country, rich blessings in our land; we all have need to thank God for their evangelical teachings; they have fed the soul, and have not caused "The drink of the thirsty to fail." The standard Clergy of the Church of England have been far better taught than "to utter error against the Lord," nay, those who do thus are our hireling priests, wedded to idols, who impiously accept sacred payment, while they do their utmost to destroy the rich power of a holy, devotional service, by intonation, uncertain nasal sounds, childish, petty, and absurd ceremonials, perverting solemn praise to a brilliant oratorio, in which the flock can take no part, or reading the Scriptures in an unknown tongue, that they should not be understood. These are our Ritualists: "Ephraim is joined to his idols, let him alone." They might have furnished a separate Identification, but for the fact that God Himself classes them with the swindling tradespeople. "As for them," &c. Ezek. xi. 21. Their power to do harm is "limited," like other joint-stock frauds. They cannot take us to Rome, simply because there is no Church of Rome. It had only power to continue forty and two months, or 1260 years, when it was to cease. God's word is sure, and cannot err. Its power commenced with the crowning of the first Pope, 606. Add to this the limit of its time, 1260 years, and we arrive at A.D. 1866. This was the year of the Infallible man's difficulty, when he ceased to trust in God, and placed his faith in Napoleon, the year that his temporal power was wrenched from him, and became embodied in the might of the French army. From that moment the Church of Rome ceased to exist, and supplies us with another proof of God's sure word of prophecy; therefore let not our nation talk more about Rome, or be anxious about the follies of those whom God bids us leave alone. They are the "silly doves of Ephraim," Hos. vii. 11, and will yet return. Hos. xiv. 8.

IDENTIFICATION THE TWENTY-SIXTH.—OPPRESSION.

I prefer bringing forth this Identity next, though a host of others crowd upon the mind. I do not find from the prophecies that any of the national propensities to which Israel was addicted when in the Land, would depart from her during the time of her captivity; on the contrary, Scripture clearly recognises that the same sins would cleave to her in captivity, and nationally she would not be found willing to forsake them until the time that her Identity was established; so that the very Identity of Israel is the instrument that God will use to give the death blow to many abuses that now afflict His ELECT. Thus Ritualism, which was with them in the land, and is with them still, can only be swept from the earth by the power of the Identity. But the cruelty of oppression has far more baneful results upon the masses; it has been to Israel the one great curse that has checked the full flow of her national prosperity, and her people's happiness. Her love for using the power of oppression was one main reason why she was expelled from the land, why she forfeited her high estate, and has cost her generations of reproach, toil, and misery. "Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Israel, and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof; because they have sold the righteous for silver (Ritualism), and the poor for a pair of shoes; that pant after the dust of the earth on the head of the poor, and turn aside the way of the meek." Amos ii. 6. These sins were not charged against Judah. She had been separately addressed in previous verses, God not laying the crime of Ritualism against her; and reference to the Book of Kings will shew that with but few exceptions, the Kings of Israel "departed not from the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin" (in the ritual service of Baal), whereas, on the contrary, the Kings of Judah generally "did that which was right in the sight of the Lord," and Judah to this day cannot be said to oppress her poor, nor does she suffer our poor rates to be burtliened by their keep. Oppression was with Israel, and is so still; it is written against Israel during captivity, "He loveth to oppress." Hos. xii. 7. Of course this is the national and commercial aspect, apart from the religious life, and furnishes another proof that Israel could not be the Church, for it is an impossibility for a Christian to love oppression, those in Israel who are really Christians are the light of the world, but those who are not in Christ, are still the curse of brethren: of these God asks, "What mean ye that ye beat my people to pieces, and grind the faces of the poor?" Is. iii. 15. "Woe unto them that decree unrighteous decrees, that turn aside the needy from judgment, and take away the right from the poor of my people." Is. x. 2.

THE IDENTITY is too apparent; few things have tended so greatly to retard our national prosperity, and marred the real happiness of our people so much as this love of oppressing others. Exorbitant hours of toil, exacted for minimum of pay, testify of it—wealthy City Warehousemen who have more than the heart should desire, pay wicked and starvation prices to their sempstresses, calling forth Tom Hood's sublime protest in his noble and matchless "Song of the Shirt." We have a little nation of ill-paid Curates, Clerks, and Workmen, whose principals enjoy princely revenues, and the very luxuries of earth, while their dependents are oppressively struggling in the meshes of poverty, dictating the text—"Woe unto him that buildeth his house by unrighteousness, and his chambers by wrong; that useth his neighbour's service without wages, and giveth him not for his work." Jer. xxii. 13. Our Farmers and Agricultural Squires are not exempted from the sin of oppression, as the few shillings doled out to their labourers, and the wretched hovels so many are suffered to live in, testify. God specially addresses the wealthy farmers of Israel, saying, "Behold, the hire of the labourers who have reaped down your fields, which is of you kept back by fraud, crieth." James v .4. Oppression is in us, and permeates through all society; our very governments have been oppressed by the people, the people by the governments, and so forth. How shamefully is this exemplified by our treatment of paupers. Homeless poor, like felons, are handed over to the supervision of the police when they want a night's shelter, and have to file outside the railing of a police station, that passers-by might gaze upon their misery, submit to the rough questions of the Inspector, at times passed long distances to a workhouse, to undergo cross-questioning by Officials of another stamp, and then have to pay by labour seven times the value of the accommodation. All this is a grave mistake, by which the full prosperity of our Nation has been hindered; we have wealth in our Country, and could have multiplied it a hundredfold (but for this dark blot), resulting in almost universal contentment among the masses of the people. It is our own fault that we have pauperism, a consequence of Oppression. God has declared, and His word is sure, that He did not intend much poor to be in our midst, that He wished so to bless our English Nation that there should be times when we should have no poor at all. Deut. xv. 4. He has made special provision for us against poverty, not having done the same to any other nation, and if we had carefully hearkened to His voice, pauperism would have been unknown to us; we suffer from it through our sin; every department of trade is crippled, railway receipts are dwarfed, and poor rates form a millstone about our necks, simply because we have not properly used the provision God has made. God gave to us our Colonies expressly to prevent pauperism; the 49th of Isaiah is nothing more than a chapter of English History, entirely without point or meaning if applied to any other people. It contains the Charter of our Colonial Office, the history of our Colonies; addresses us in these "Isles," tells us they had become too small for us, "by reason of the inhabitants,” because we had the multitudinous seed in us. We ourselves, in the 20th verse, cried out for some new country, for more room, saying, “the place is too strait for me, give place to me that I may dwell.” This was Israel suffering the inconvenience of an overcrowded country, and in the same chapter God tells us He had heard the prayer, that the request was granted, that He had provided for us the “desolate heritages,” and we have before seen that all the waste heritages that were then existing are now in our possession. Had we made use of them in the way God intended we should have done, we should be entirely without workhouses in our land, Philanthropy would amply have provided for all the Charity needed. We should have sent forth our surplus populace to till these waste lands; but Oppression has kept them at home, that the labour market might be overstocked and labour become cheap, and this is why our wealthy Manufacturers, Farmers, and large employers of labour are generally found decrying down Emigration. They know that to thin the country means the raising of wages, would enforce them at last to pay honestly; so they meanly and subtly pretend to oppose Emigration upon humane grounds. The time has now come to sweep this cant away; grave times are ushered in. These are the latter days; the wars have commenced; the fulness of the Gentiles have set in; the injunction has been obeyed, to preach the gospel as a witness to every nation; the Latter Rain has been restored; knowledge runs swiftly to and fro; and ISRAEL IS FOUND. These are the great proofs of latter-day times. Now we are about to enjoy a season of refreshing and quiet, a few years of rest, with a thorough immunity from the troubles that will beset the other nations; but still Armageddon is before us; it is coming upon us; we cannot avert it; it may be 100 years before it comes; it may be sooner. It is the time of our trouble; we are the Elect; and for our sakes alone it is promised these days shall be shortened. It is the time that “wheresoever the body is, thither will the eagles be gathered together.” The time that God will avenge Israel, “His own elect,” the time when the entire armies of the Continent shall be gathered against us, suggesting Christ’s question, “Nevertheless, when the Son of Man cometh, shall He find faith on the earth?” This question has no manner of reference to truth. We are positively assured that there will be hundreds of millions of sincere, Christ-loving and expecting souls at this time, but it means shall we, the elect nation, the Israel, after all God’s marvels done for us; shall we, with the earth against us, with all the modern appliances of skilled warfare before us, have faith in the promise that we shall prevail? Victory will be ours, but it will be obtained for us more by our Colonies than by ourselves. It is the young lions that come forward. Ezek. xxxviii. 13. The tidings out of the east and out of the north, shall trouble Gog. Dan. xi. 44. Hence the importance of developing our Colonies. Every workhouse is a reproach to us; each represents a town of wasted strength; an army extracted from us. Instead of herding our poor in physical weakness in these nests of infamy, had we sent them forth to till the wastes and beautify God's earth, we might have had hundreds of new towns for the commerce of Old England to supply. They would have become a blessing to us, not a curse; a strength, not a weakness; but the advocate of cheap labour says, "Utopian!" Believe him not; every town formed is the result of first settlers. New York, Quebec, Adelaide, Wellington, and Cape Town, with all the others, testify against him. What has been done can be repeated, and there is yet ample room to duplicate the whole. Keeping up our ratio of population, which we shall, in 100 years hence our race will have increased to 300,000,000, what will become of England unless we make the proper use of our blessings? Let hateful Oppression no longer stand in the way; let the Nation insist that Government take Emigration in hand; let our workhouses be emptied, and free passages with grants be made; then shall we have a Government attending to the real well-being of the people, and not until then. God never enjoined upon us the duty of supporting the able-bodied man; He only commissions us to take care of the stranger, the widow, and the fatherless; for the widower and the motherless provision is made, if not in England, in our immense possessions; but having made the mistake by discouraging emigration, and wasting national strength, through the horrors and immorality always resulting from overcrowding, it becomes our duty to rectify this mistake by providing from the national purse sufficient to enable these impoverished ones comfortably to settle in the countries God Himself has given them. The same amount of money we threw away over ten of our people in Abyssinia, without any "value received," applied in this direction would be a stroke of real statesmanship, and directly, and sensibly benefit the whole of the country. If the people willed it, no earthly power could hinder it. Heaven would not oppose, because it grieves that it has not been done before.

IDENTIFICATION THE TWENTY-SEVENTH.—
"BLINDNESS IN PART."

Perhaps one of the most marvellous incidents connected with the history of Israel since they were lost is that of their "Blindness," their utter ignorance of themselves; it is said of them, "His watchmen are blind, they are all ignorant." Is. lvi. 10. They were to accomplish all the wonderful works given to Israel; yet they were not to know themselves, were to be forgetful of the rock that begat them. Paul calls this a mystery and says, “I would not, brethren, that ye should be ignorant of this mystery, lest ye should be wise in your own conceits, that blindness in part is happened to Israel, until the fulness of the Gentiles be come in.” Rom. xi. 25. In the first verse he glories in being “an Israelite,” “of the tribe of Benjamin,” and speaks only of Israel, and not of Judah, when he asks, “Hath God cast away His people?” And refers to Israel as being the elect Nation, and not a Church, when he says, “God hath not cast away His people which He foreknew.” He had the authority of Scripture for saying this; for God Himself had said “they shall be as though I had not cast them off.” Zech. x. 6. Yes, even in this blind state, they should be the favoured people, not for their own goodness, but that the faithful promises made should stand; for Paul says “Israel hath not obtained that which she seeketh for; but the ELECTION hath obtained it, and the rest were blinded.” Rom. xi. 7. By “the rest,” he referred to the nine tribes who had been carried into captivity by Assyria—the bulk of the nation—for in the two previous verses he spoke only of the remnant that had been preserved, and who in the time then present—the days of Paul—were Christians, not having given themselves to the service of Baal, just as the seven thousand men in the days of Elijah had been lovers of truth, and proof against the wickedness of Ritualism. This remnant did not belong to Judah, but to Israel; being of Benjamin, that one tribe especially left behind to carry out Christ’s work in the days of the Apostles. 1 Kings xi. 13 and 36. “The rest,” i.e.,—the nation of Israel, were “blinded,” but yet as a Nation they were fore-ordained, pre-destined, elected to fulfil all the missions given to them. Hence the Apostle says, it was not so much they that performed them, for they were “blinded,” but “the election.” God speaking of Israel says, “I will bring the blind by a way they knew not; I will lead them in paths they have not known, * * * These things will I do unto them, and not forsake them. * * * Who is blind as he that is perfect, and blind as the Lord’s servant? * * * Who is blind as he that is perfect, and blind as the Lord’s servant? Seeing many things, but thou observest not.” Is. xlii. 16-19. And surely THE IDENTITY can testify to this fact. We have established by Twenty-seven Identities, the Identification of the English with Israel, and could yet bring forward as many more if needed. We have proved that we are the only nation that have brought forth their works, that there is not a single flaw, not a link missing, that we have, without one exception, accomplished all, whereas no other nation has touched them, and now, by no possibility whatever could do so, and yet hitherto we have been blind to this fact, notwithstanding the remarkable coincident, that we have, as a nation, been confessing for ages, through the Common Prayer Book of the Church of England, that we were positively and literally Israel, as the following quotations prove. "O God, we have heard with our ears, and our fathers have declared unto us the noble works that Thou didst in their days, and in the old time before them." "He, remembering His mercy, hath holpen His servant Israel, as He promised to our forefathers, Abraham and his seed for ever." Surely nothing could be plainer than that "blindness in part" has happened to us, it has been designed by God that it should have been so, but He also designs that it should be removed, and is now about to make most valuable use of this blindness. It is now specially to serve the welfare of the Church, our dear Redeemer's Kingdom, for while some men, in their zeal to confirm the truth of Christianity, have been eager to establish Christian Evidence Societies, Exploration Funds, and have been digging in the bowels of the earth for inscription stones, collecting anything that could in the slightest degree testify to Bible truth, God himself designs to bring forth living testimony; He intends through the medium of our "blindness" to destroy Infidelity; that while Tom Paine, and his school have been asserting "there is no God," we are to be called forth, and invested with the sublime mission to testify that there is a God, and that our God is God; a holier, more heaven-born mission could not be given to any people, it is alone given to our nation, for God now says to us—to us, the so-called English, but now identified as Israel—"Bring forth the blind people that have eyes, let them bring forth their witnesses that they may be justified. * * * Ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my servant whom I have chosen; that ye may know, and believe me, and understand that I AM HE; before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me; I, even I, am the Lord; and beside me there is no Saviour. * * * Ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord, THAT I AM GOD." Is. xliii. 10-12. Christians! if no other purposes were served by our Identification, surely this one alone should fire our souls with living zeal to effect its national acknowledgment. Ye that love the Lord, is it nothing to you that God's character should be vindicated? We are this "blind people" that have to be brought forth. It is God's own adopted means of certifying to truth; the only method that can prevail, and effect the purpose; waste not valuable time, and insult not your God, by resorting to your own judgment, and using your own appliances, but obey God, do as He bids you, bring Israel to the front, "bring forth the blind people," establish our Identity, for this is the only power that will be used by God to bring the Gentile Nations to be willing to be taught of the Lord, and receive salvation through our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. The word of the Lord has said this; remember God works by the use of means; we must shew our anxiety for this to be done, before He will do it. "Thus saith the Lord God; I will yet for this be enquired of by the house of Israel, to do it for them." Ezek. xxxvi. 37 "Ye that make mention of the Lord, keep not silence. And give Him no rest, till He establish, and till He make Jerusalem a praise in the earth." Is. lxii. 7.

Christians, this matter is now fairly in your hands; it is a new power for you to use, for the glory of God, the salvation of souls, and the welfare of our individual Nation. I leave you accountable to God for the way you make use of this power, and to Him be all the Glory, now and ever. Amen. (I have said.)

POSTSCRIPT.

Our Divines often tell us how easy it is to build theories upon individual, and isolated passages of Scripture, and are most choice with their advice that we should be careful to compare Scripture with Scripture. This has been an anxious study—from between two and three hundred texts that have been advanced, not one has been used to bear upon Israel that was not given to her, and her alone, without having any bearing upon Judah; also, the passages brought forward to distinguish Judah, only refer to her, and not to Israel. For each single text supplied, at least ten others could be brought forward having direct substantiating testimony; indeed very much of the Bible could be reproduced. So that, if ever a subject has been introduced adhering to the rule of comparing Scripture with Scripture, surely this subject has in the most copious manner.
NOTICE.

This Edition is considerably enlarged upon the former issues, containing more abundant Scripture Proofs, and many new Identifications; but still there are several other great uses that the subject serves that it were impossible to introduce without materially increasing bulk and cost; this we have studied to avoid, because the subject is essentially a National one, the Nation's coming glory and prosperity being dependent upon it; so that to increase price might prevent general circulation, and retard the Identity from being quickly acknowledged, which would delay the bestowal of those rich blessings God has promised to us immediately after the Political Resurrection of His Chosen People Israel. We therefore propose issuing another Pamphlet, under the title of shewing in outline other really valuable uses, as well as flashing light upon certain topics that have been thought hard to comprehend, such as—The Doctrine of Election.—"Faith on the Earth."—"They are not all Israel that are of Israel."—The 9th chapter of Romans (reputed to be the most difficult chapter of the entire Bible).—"Moses and the Prophets."—The Disciples and the Tribe of Benjamin.—The Coming Amnesty v. Prison Building.—The Gospel v. Capital Punishment.—Isaac's Stone under our Coronation Chair.—Solomon and our Coronation Oath.—Complete Exemption of England from the coming Continental Sufferings.—Seven-eighths of the Bible now generally misunderstood.—The Wars and our Neutrality.—The New Jerusalem.—Events that must take place before the Second Coming of Christ.—"All things (do not) continue as they were," &c., &c.

"FLASHES OF LIGHT:"